LABOR LEADER RAKES WAGNER ACT AS INVALID

Head of Rail Union Urges Revisions.

A union leader, speaking before 300 of Chicago's biggest employers, yesterday branded the Wagner labor act as unconstitutional, declared it forced "yellow dog contracts in reverse," asserted that industrial peace would never come until the act was amended "to get rid of the premise that all employers are crooks and all labor leaders are honest," and recommended eight changes which brought cheers from the employers.

The speaker, Maurice R. Franks, business agent for the Railroad Yardmasters' union and editor of the Railroad Workers Journal, told the Chicago Executives' club at a luncheon in Hotel Sherman that he wanted the labor act changed to:

1. Ban all but citizens of Canada and the United States from elective union offices.

Would Demand Experience.

2. Demand elective union officers have adequate experience in the occupation their union represents.

3. Require that union fiscal agents be bonded.

4. Require that all union members receive a financial statement at least once a year.

5. Ban all political contributions by unions.

6. Make workers' participation in unions voluntary by amending section 7-A.

7. Require cool-off periods before strikes.

8. Avoid making union membership a means of obtaining employment.

For a half hour, Franks, who said he had been in the labor movement since he was 19 years old, sang a hymn of praise for labor and unions, assailing both "racketeers who as so-called labor leaders are willing to wreck an industry to gain their own selfish ends" and also "thoughtless, selfish employers who don't give a tinker's dam how their employés live."

"Sold Bill of Goods."

Then, with both fists flying, he struck out at the Wagner act. "I don't know who Sen. Wagner's advisers were," he said, "but they certainly sold him a bill of goods."

Tho the law is titled one to reduce labor unrest, "there has been more unrest since it was adopted than ever before," Franks declared.

Section 7, concerning rights of workers to organize, "call it what you may — union maintenance or closed shop—is nothing but a yellow dog contract in reverse," he said. "The yellow dog contracts prohibited employers from hiring union men. Section 7 denies a man a right to earn a living if he does not belong to a union."

Attacks Ban on Conferences.

The act, he continued, bans employers from influencing workers in union relations. "It's a hell of a state when employers and workers can't exchange ideas for their mutual betterment."

Every effort to change the act, he said, had been blocked because of a "disparaging condition" in Washington. "But the situation is changed," he said. "Nov. 3 was a red letter day."

WPA TYPEWRITER HOARD IDLE AS U.S. HUNTS MACHINES

New York, Jan. 29 [Special].—The works progress administration, now dying after costing tax payers more than 10 billion dollars and teaching them the word "boondoggling," apparently is writing its obituary on a tangle of red tape with a lot of homeless typewriters, the New York World-Telegram learned today.

The paper reports a huge East river pier crammed with a mass of WPA office equipment, including an unknown but presumably large number of typewriters to which apparently no one has title.

Meanwhile, the government is going all out in efforts to induce business firms to surrender 25 per cent of their late model typewriters.

Indications are that the government has been unable to find the WPA typewriters and put them to work on war projects because they are hidden under the paper work required in handing them over to the treasury department for distribution to other agencies.

Meal in Line's Cafe Blamed; Cause Sought

Seventy employés of the United Airlines, most of them women, were made violently ill yesterday by food poisoning and 52 of them were taken to hospitals. Apparently the illness was caused by food eaten at noon in the employés' cafeteria of the company's general office building at 5959 South Cicero avenue.

Late last night Dr. Herman N. Bundesen, president of the Chicago board of health, reported that a majority of the victims had left the hospitals and it appeared that no deaths would result.

Health department officials obtained samples of 25 items of food served at noon in the cafeteria and started chemical analyses to determine the cause of the outbreak.

Believed to Be Bacterial.

The symptoms of all the victims were the same—nausea, vomiting, intestinal cramps, and diarrhea. Dr. Bundesen said he would not rule out the chance that a chemical poison was responsible until his investigation is completed. He explained, however, that the symptoms shown by the victims indicated they were made ill by some type of food poisoning of bacterial origin.

Chicago Lawn police who talked to some of the victims in the hospitals said they had eaten Boston cream pie and tapioca pudding. Physicians said such foods are common sources of contamination which leads to bacterial infections.

P. M. Willcox, secretary of the United Air Lines, said he believed the wave of illness was caused by food poisoning of bacterial origin. None of the victims was stricken less than three hours after eating lunch, and a chemical poison would have been noticed in less than that time, he said.

500 Employés at Lunch.

Willcox said 500 employés ate lunch in the cafeteria, which is entirely separate from the kitchen where food is prepared for the air lines' passengers. Pies and pastry for the employés restaurant are prepared daily, he said.

The victims and the hospitals to which they were taken were:

A WORD TO THE UNWISE

Take Shoes Off Horses After Work—WPB

Washington, D. C., Jan. 29 [Special].—A native New Yorker and Harvard graduate now serving the war production board as chief of its industrial branch, office of civilian supply, has gravely advised farmers to conserve horseshoes by—among other things—removing the shoes when the horses get thru work periods.

This advice is contained in treatise prepared by Edward R. Gay, formerly an executive of a New York paper company, which is being mailed to hardware dealers who appeal to WPB for help in obtaining horseshoes. Other recommended methods of horseshoe conservation include elimination of nonproductive use and abolition of unessential styles.

Rep. John W. Flannagan Jr. [D., Va.] called the attention of his colleagues to Mr. Gay's masterpiece today with the recommendation that it should be preserved among the archives of the republic.

"A Splendid Background."

Commenting on Gay's Harvard training and New York address, Flannagan said: "A splendid background for one selected to administer the machinery and parts program for the farmers of America." He said Gay's treatise had been received by E. H. Powers and J. T. Cecil, operators of hardware stores in Bristol, Va.

The congressman said things must have changed since he left the farm, because he never heard of styles in horseshoes. He inquired if box toes, pointed toes, patent leather, and tan shoes have come in vogue for horses in recent years.

Any Zippers on 'Em?

He said he presumed that there now are zipper horseshoes, stating he could think of no other explanation for the WPB suggestion for removing shoes after work. He quoted from the treatise: "Horse owners can in many cases save shoes by removing the shoes immediately after a period of necessary road work or other work where shoes are necessary only during certain periods."

"So, Mr. Farmer," Flannagan said, "all you have to do now in order to comply with the new rules is to buy the zipper style, zip them off at night, and zip them back in the morning. Alas, it has taken the stuffins right out of that dear old poem we all used to recite about the village blacksmith."

In regard to eliminating nonessential uses of shoed horses, Flannagan pictured the farmer and his family hoofing it to church after the farmer has first "run down to the barn and put a fresh batch of straw in old Dobbin's stall to cushion her tootsie wootsies against the hardness of mother earth."

TREMORS SHAKE CHICAGO, PUZZLE LOYOLA EXPERT

A mysterious series of tremors that defied seismographical analysis caused numerous buildings in Chicago to shudder and alarmed their occupants last night.

The peculiar nature of the tremors, and their recordings on the seismograph at Loyola university, puzzled the Rev. Alphonse Schmitt, noted professor of physics at the university. He said "the tremors were the most peculiar I have ever seen recorded on the instrument."

The needle of the seismograph, an instrument so delicate that it will record gentle tremors thousands of miles away, began vibrating violently at 8:28 o'clock, he said. The vibrations continued with sustained violence for approximately one minute, then subsided for 45 seconds, after which the needle danced even more wildly.

TAKE KROPOTKIN AND ADVANCE IN VORONEZH AREA

Capture 14,500, Slay 12,000 in 3 Days.

MOSCOW, Jan. 29 (AP).—The Russian offensive west of Voronezh has smashed or trapped seven German divisions in three days and since mid-January has captured nearly 100,000 prisoners, a special communique said tonight.

In the Caucasus the Russians captured the key rail junction of Kropotkin, 130 miles southeast of Rostov, in the drive northward toward Tikhoretsk, 35 miles away.

[The midnight communique said the Russians had taken Temirgoevskaya, 25 miles southwest of Kropotkin, in their effort to cut off the retreat of Germans at Maikop, 40 miles to the southwest.]

The special bulletin announced these results on the Voronezh front:

Advances of 25 to 31 miles on a 43 mile front in three days.

Slay 12,000 and Seize 14,500.

The killing of 12,000 axis troops and the capture of 14,500.

Up to Thursday, the communique said, 86,000 axis troops had been captured since the Voronezh offensive began Jan. 13.

The capture today of Novy-Oskol, 55 miles east of Belgorod, in which an entire Italian Alpine corps was wiped out or taken prisoner. The prisoner toll was 11,000 Italians, including three divisional commanders. This raised the grand total of prisoners to 97,000.

More than 200 localities recaptured.

All this has been done in three days, the communique said. The seven axis divisions that were routed, killed, or encircled and being annihilated in this area were German, the communique said. Presence of so many German divisions in this area indicated the Nazis were rushing reenforcements to bolster the sagging lines of their puppet troops.

[London observers expressed the belief that the Germans would try to hold a 200 mile bridgehead in the western Caucasus from Rostov to Krasnodar to Novorossisk.]

Seize Large Amount of Booty.

In the same three day period the Russians said they captured much German equipment and many stores of supplies.

At Stalingrad the Russians said they were putting to death the last few ragged thousands of an axis assault army that once numbered 220,000 men.

[The London Daily Mail said today that Adolf Hitler flew to his trapped 6th army at Stalingrad three days before the final Russian assault began (Jan. 14) and called on his troops to fight to the death, saying that it was impossible to organize a relief force. The report was cabled from a neutral capital.]

MUST BEAT JAPS, TOO, IS WARNING OF LONDON PAPER

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Jan. 29.—Premier Gen. Hideki Tojo's speech to the Japanese people, according to the Daily Herald, is "founded on facts—facts which the British and American people should not underestimate." In an editorial, the newspaper suggested that Tojo purposely timed his speech in advance of Hitler's anniversary observation to tell the Japanese that whatever happens in the west "Japan will come out on top when the western nations have exhausted each other."

While still designating Hitler the chief enemy, the Daily Herald warned that "not until Japan, too, is beaten can we enjoy the kind of peace for which we are fighting." Referring to Australian Prime Minister John Curtin's appeal for more air and naval strength, "addressed to the people of the United States, not to Britain," the newspaper said that "his broadcast . . . implies the global strategy of the allies has not so far taken sufficient account of Japan" and that it is up to the leaders to decide, if they have not yet done so, how Curtin's demands are to be met.

YANKS TAKE AXIS PEAK BY STORM IN 8 DAY BATTLE

BY JOHN THOMPSON.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

WITH THE AMERICAN ARMY IN THE FIELD IN CENTRAL TUNISIA, Jan. 26 — [Delayed] — [Censored] — American troops were in complete control of Ousseltia valley today after an eight day battle in the mountains with axis armored forces which took off from Pont du Fahs to threaten the allied line.

Doughboys stormed the heights of a strategic pass in the mountains at the eastern edge of the valley early this morning. As they started up the almost sheer sides of the most rugged peak, American 105s [105mm. guns] put into position Monday night by Lt. Col. V. B. Barnes, artillery commander, virtually blew the top off the objective.

More than 200 Italians, left behind as a holding force, were captured. American casualties were very light. The Yanks destroyed 15 enemy tanks and damaged many others while losing only two.

French Call for Help.

The battle opened on Jan. 18 when French forces called for help as enemy tanks swept thru the passes of the valley. The commanding American officer in this sector "pulled the plug" and within five minutes an armored column was on its way. By the next day our tank destroyers were in action, coursing up the valley, and by the 20th they were making their first contact with the enemy.

They had come over mountain trails so tortuous that even my sedan found them hard to negotiate, but the tanks and the guns made the trip down these goat paths at night. Daylight found them able to roll over a flat, undulating plain stretching northeast.

The Germans had seized heights on the east ridge in positions commanding the entire valley. Armored infantry started out after them but found the terrain far too rugged for their type of operations and the tough, little armored force general called for motorized infantry and artillery.

Begin Attack at Night.

These forces began the attack on the heights at night but because the mountain sides were so precipitous they could not complete the operation until early morning.

During the entire operation American planes had air superiority. Fighters and bombers seldom encountered enemy pursuit planes and this afternoon for the first time enemy bombers were over the area. Their bombs, however, missed the targets.

The tank forces paid tribute to the air coöperation. One major, whose unit has been fighting in this area for weeks, commented that it was the first time that air support worked the way it was supposed to.

Tanks and mobile artillery patroled thru the northern end of the valley until certain that the last enemy armored forces had fled. These elements contacted a British armored column which pushed southeast after cutting off one enemy tank thrust into Maktar valley and destroying 38 German tanks.

20% of Britain's Supplies from U. S.—Lyttelton

BIRMINGHAM, England, Jan. 29 (AP).—Production Minister Oliver Lyttelton told an audience of workers today that Britain depends upon the United States for nearly 20 per cent of the nation's war supplies. This, he said, includes clothing for troops, equipment for bomber squadrons, but does not include merchant shipbuilding.

A COMMUNIQUE FOR TROOPER GREEN: YOUR DOG IS SAFE: MOTHER

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

VANCOUVER, B. C., Jan. 29.—When Trooper Dick Green left his rural home to go overseas with the British Columbia Dragoons he committed his hunting dog, Rags, to the care of his parents. Mrs. Green heard the dog in distress and saw a mountain lion gripping Rags in its teeth. With a stick of wood she pounded the big cat about the head. The cat let go. Rags is recovering.

TWO PRESIDENTS REVEAL AIMS OF U. S. AND BRAZIL

Washington, D. C., Jan. 29 (AP).—President Roosevelt and President Vargas of Brazil said in a joint statement tonight it was the aim of their countries to "make the Atlantic ocean safe for all" and that they were in complete agreement that the west African coast must never again offer a threat of blockade or invasion against this hemisphere.

President Vargas.

The two chief executives conferred yesterday in Natal, Brazil, where the American President stopped on his plane journey back from Liberia where he also stopped off on his way back from an Anglo-American war council at Casablanca. They spent an evening conferring on "problems of the world war as a whole and especially the joint Brazilian-United States effort."

Discuss Submarine Menace.

President Vargas announced that greatly increased efforts were being made by Brazil to meet the submarine menace in the Caribbean and South Atlantic.

"President Roosevelt informed his colleague," said the joint statement, released here by the White House, "of the very significant results of the conference in Casablanca and of the resolve that the peace to come must not allow the axis to attack civilization in future years."

Text of Statement.

The text of the joint statement follows:

"The President of Brazil and the President of the United States met Thursday at an unannounced location in Brazil. The two Presidents had lunch together, inspected and reviewed army, navy, and airforces of the two nations. They passed the evening in conference on problems of the world war as a whole and especially the joint Brazilian-United States effort.

"They discussed the continuing submarine danger from the Caribbean to the South Atlantic. President Vargas announced greatly increased efforts on the part of his country to meet this menace.

"President Roosevelt informed his colleague of the very significant results of the conference in Casablanca and of the resolve that the peace to come must not allow the axis to attack civilization in future years.

Eliminates Danger from Dakar.

"President Roosevelt demonstrated that the North African expedition has for the present eliminated the possibility of the threat of a German-held Dakar to American freedom at the narrow point of the Atlantic. Both President Vargas and President Roosevelt are in complete agreement that it must be permanently and definitely assured that the coasts of West Africa and Dakar never again under any circumstances be allowed to become a blockade or an invasion threat against the two Americas.

"The two Presidents said:

"'This meeting has given us an opportunity to survey the future safety of all the Americas. In our opinion each of the republics is interested and affected to an equal degree. In unity there is strength.' It is the aim of Brazil and of the United States to make the Atlantic ocean safe for all. We are deeply grateful for the almost unanimous help that our neighbors are giving to the great cause of democracy thruout the world.'"

Memorandum for Press.

This statement was supplemented by the following "memorandum for the press" from President Roosevelt alone:

"President Roosevelt believed that the Casablanca conference was so vital to the war effort that he should delay for a short time his return to the United States so that he might talk informally to President Vargas of Brazil about the conference, and discuss several details of additional mutual aid.

SPANGLER CALLS BUROCRACY A BAR TO UNITY IN U. S.

Demands Purge of Foes of American System.

Topeka, Kas., Jan. 29 [Special].—Harrison E. Spangler, new chairman of the Republican national committee, called on the people tonight to weed out of government those who would change our free system into some form of national socialism.

Harrison Spangler.

Speaking at the Kansas Day dinner here in one of his first public appearances since his selection as head of the party organization, Spangler attacked New Deal burocracy as an obstacle to the national unity essential to winning the war. He predicted that voters who began the task of purging New Dealers last Nov. 3 will finish the job in November, 1944.

Using "Same Old Tenpins."

"The homes and the farms of America are being drained of their boys, but the administration proposes to fight the war without the loss of a single burocrat," Spangler said. "If there is confusion in Washington, the answer does not lie in erecting new boards and bureaus on the ruins of those which have already failed—new bureaus built out of the same personnel which already has been discredited. They are the same old wooden tenpins no matter what alley they are set up in."

Spangler asserted that the cure for existing confusion is the calling up of the best brains of the nation, regardless of political differences. He demanded that the administration throw out political henchmen "whose first concern is their own profit and power," and keep the lame ducks where they were relegated by the people.

"The paralyzing hand of government has been laid upon every form of human endeavor," Spangler said, "replacing initiative with shackles and burdens. No man dares to make the simplest business venture without trying to find what the government will do—and when he finds he dares not venture."

Liberty Under Assault.

He said that the ramparts of American liberty have been under continuous assault by the New Dealers for the last 10 years, sometimes by furtiveness and stealth and sometimes by direct aggression. He accused the New Dealers of sneering at the Constitution as outmoded and of regarding the civilization our people built, altho unequaled anywhere, any time on earth, as a monument to greed.

"Until the last election, congress had been reduced to complete subserviency," he said. "The Supreme court was first attacked, then filled with men who were more conspicuous for their faith in economic theories than for their knowledge of law. The rights of the states have been violated and sabotaged.

"Boards and bureaus have been multiplied and invested with broad powers under which thousands of laws were written, not by legislative assemblies in the full light of public debate, but behind closed doors written and promulgated by executive order or by burocratic edict."

Guests included Dr. Shuhsi Hsu, adviser to the ministry of foreign affairs of the Chinese National government, who has been in the United States for several weeks.

HIGH PRIORITIES FOR RUBBER CUT TO 43.6 PER CENT

Total Nelson Promised Is Slashed.

BY HAL FOUST.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 29.—Rubber Director William M. Jeffers this afternoon received special high priorities for completion of 43.6 per cent of the synthetic rubber production capacity recommended by the Baruch report. This is substantially less than he had demanded. He and his office declined to comment.

On Tuesday, Chairman Donald M. Nelson of the war production board testified before a senate committee that WPB had recommended 55 per cent of the Baruch program as the maximum that could receive priorities without impairing urgent schedules for aviation gasoline, escort vessels, and merchant ships. Jeffers had sought special priority orders to cover 65 to 70 per cent of the Baruch program.

Blame Army and Navy for Cut.

The reduction in the portion of the rubber program to be rated as urgent was reported to have been brought about by army and navy officials. It was said to have been a White House decision. Jeffers and Nelson had appealed to President Roosevelt to settle their differences over how much of the scarce materials and scarcer component parts, such as valves and gauges, should be allocated to rubber. The President referred the problem to former Justice James F. Byrnes, the new stability director.

Jeffers, rebuked by the office of war information earlier this week for having publicly criticized army and navy officers assigned to arms plants, could not be reached by telephone this evening.

Predicts Crisis by Fall.

Jeffers a month ago reported to Nelson and to the senate rubber investigation committee that unless his demands for special rush orders were granted by WPB the nation will face a crisis this fall in its arms production and its motor transportation owing to a rubber shortage.

The priorities granted today give right of way to plants under construction with a rated annual capacity of 452,000 tons.

Schools Close for Week in N. Y. to Conserve Fuel

New York, Jan. 29 (AP).—The fuel oil shortage resulted today in a week's vacation for 960,000 public school pupils here, as 850 schools closed until Feb. 8 to conserve fuel supplies. Studies will be made up during the week of April 26-30, when the scheduled Easter vacation will not be observed.

TAFT APPEALS FOR RETURN TO 'AMERICAN WAY'

Utopian Post-War Plans Branded Ruinous.

Niles, O., Jan. 29 [Special].—Prosperity and full employment after the war can be brought about only by the encouragement and full development of private enterprise, protected by a "reasonable" tariff barrier, Sen. Robert A. Taft said tonight in an address on the 100th anniversary of the birth of President William McKinley.

Speaking at McKinley's birthplace, Sen. Taft charged that the New Deal "has completely ignored and largely destroyed" the system of incentive on which America's wealth was based, and urged a return to "the old method of restoring prosperity."

"The capital is full of planners of all kinds," he said. "Every economic panacea and long haired crank ever thought of is being dusted off and incorporated in a magnificent collection of glittering landscapes supposed to lead to utopia.

Drifting Toward Bankruptcy.

"If we do not develop a constructive plan of our own, the country is likely to drift into policies which can only mean bankruptcy, the destruction of private savings and I believe the end of our American way of life as we have known it."

Sen. Taft attacked the policy of free trade thruout the world after the war, apparently advocated, he said, by Vice President Henry A. Wallace, Wendell L. Willkie, and others.

"How can American workmen compete with wages running from one-half in England to one-twentieth in far eastern countries when American machinery can be taken to any one of these countries and men taught to do excellent work in a reasonably short time?" he asked.

Helps Others, Hurts Us.

"A free trade policy thruout the world might improve the standard of living of the Chinese, but it would certainly drag down the American workman. It would certainly reduce the price of American farm products. A reasonable tariff is an essential part of prosperity in the post-war world. Without it we will have neither industry, nor agriculture, nor labor; nor will we have the materials and industries necessary to protect ourselves if war should ever come again."

Denouncing "the confusion and the artifical voices, often with a foreign accent, which are raised in Washington," Taft charged that New Deal neglect of incentive prevented the return of prosperity before the war. "If we learned anything in the 'thirties," he said, "it is that the giving of relief does not restore prosperity."

Taft urged an overhauling of the social welfare program to maintain the system of incentive and the relative position of men according to their deserts.

"If we adopt a system in which the bum or the loafer is better off by government expenditure than the conscientious worker," he concluded, "it will not be many years before we are a nation of bums and loafers."

Gov. John W. Bricker in his speech said that if the American way is to be maintained it will be because of an adherence to the principles of McKinley.

2,500 CHILDREN ARE GUESTS AT SHRINE CIRCUS

More than 2,500 children from schools and institutions were guests at the opening performance of the Shrine circus yesterday afternoon in Medinah temple auditorium, Ohio street and Wabash avenue. Thruout the 10 days that the circus will be held, some 20,000 children are expected to be admitted free.

Highlights of the circus are the acts of "Poodles" Hanneford, world famous equestrian and his family; Emil Pallenberg's educated bears that ride motorcycles and scooters; Frank and Bernie Black, pantomime clowns; Harry E. Pickard's trumpet playing seals, and the Great Gregoresco, "who defies gravity and risks death by hanging himself."

Two performances of the circus will be held daily at 3:15 p. m. and 8:15 p. m. on weekdays, with the matinée at 2:15 p. m. on Saturday and Sunday. Proceeds will be given to the Shriners' charities.

HOUSE GROUP O. K.'s NEW FARM PARITY FORMULA

Washington, D. C., Jan. 29 (AP).—The house agriculture committee today approved legislation to include farm labor costs in determining parity prices for farm goods, to increase the production and prices of peanuts, and to encourage training of rural youth for farm work. The parity legislation previously had been approved, but Chairman Hampton P. Fulmer [D., S. C.] said the action had to be taken again because new members have been added to the committee.

The peanut bill would remove, for the next two years, quotas on the production of peanuts and penalties for production in excess of quotas. Its purpose, Fulmer said, was to encourage production because of the need for peanut oil in the war program. The legislation would result in a fixed price of approximately $130 a ton for peanuts.

The rural youth bill would authorize federal agencies, in coöperation with state agricultural colleges, to train youths in the rudiments of farming.

BANDITS STEAL $1,100 PAY ROLL.

Frank Bauman, salesman for the Deer Park Baking company, 400 North St. Louis avenue, was robbed of a company pay roll of $1,100 yesterday by two men who forced his automobile to the curb at 1320 North Hamlin avenue.

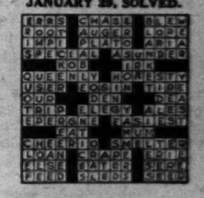
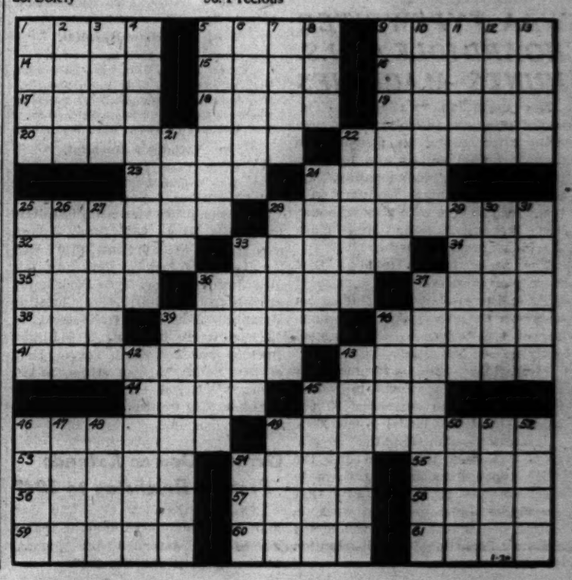
PUZZLE OF FRIDAY, JANUARY 29, SOLVED.





N.Y. NEWS WRITER AWARDED $50,000 LIBEL DAMAGES

Jury Quickly Decides Case Against J. D. Stern.

Philadelphia, Pa., Jan. 29 (AP).—A jury today awarded John O'Donnell, head of the New York Daily News Washington bureau, the $50,000 he asked in a libel suit against the Philadelphia Record.

The jury of eight men and four women heard nine days of testimony that filled a 1,400 page record.

The suit was based on an editorial in the Philadelphia newspaper April 18, 1941, commenting on a story by O'Donnell published the day before in the New York Daily News and Washington Times-Herald.

First Hearing a Mistrial.

A previous trial of the suit ended in a mistrial last Nov. 10 when Judge Clare G. Fenerty ruled that a mention in the Record's account of the trial of the amount sought by O'Donnell might prejudice the jury. Judge Fenerty held that mention of the amount violated a rule of law.

O'Donnell's story, which White House Secretary Stephen Early quoted President Roosevelt as describing as "a deliberate lie," referred to impending charges in the senate that United States naval vessels were secretly convoying British ships.

[Using Early's words as the title of an editorial, the Philadelphia Record referred to O'Donnell as a "Naziphile." It added that O'Donnell on "numerous occasions" had been guilty of "broadcasting his sympathy with most of Hitler's aims" and that O'Donnell was in favor of the "destruction of the British empire."]

Stern Admits Authorship.

O'Donnell contended the Record's editorial besmirched his character and reputation and branded him as an unscrupulous falsifier of news. J. David Stern, publisher of the Record, testified during the trial that he himself wrote the editorial.

Lemuel B. Schofield, counsel for the Record, moved for a new trial, declaring there had been a "palpable miscarriage of justice" because, he said, the jury gave insufficient consideration to the evidence.

Judge Joseph Sloane declined to hear the motion immediately. To a statement by O'Donnell's counsel, Thomas E. Comber Jr., that "the honor of the jury has been impeached," the judge replied: "There is no question of the integrity of this jury. The only question is if they gave due and serious consideration of the testimony or only took about 50 minutes."

Agree in a Few Minutes.

The arguments disclosed that a court officer informed Judge Sloane last night he had learned the jurors had arrived at a verdict in favor of O'Donnell within a few minutes after they began deliberations at 9:25 p. m.

Judge Sloane called opposing attorneys to his chambers for a conference and when the jury reported at 1:30 a. m. he ordered that the verdict be sealed. When court convened this morning Schofield arose before the verdict was opened and asked for a mistrial "because of what was reported to the court last night and passed on to counsel by your honor."

The motion was denied.

Attorney Comber declared that "if any officer of the court tells of the deliberation of a jury as overheard by him, in violation of his oath, it is a question whether he is not guilty of a criminal offense. I feel that the honor and integrity of every juror has been impeached."

REPORT BRITAIN WANTS U. S. TO RETURN 'PUTZI'

Washington, D. C., Jan. 29 (AP).—The Evening Star said today that the British government has requested that the United States return Dr. Ernst "Putzi" Hanfstaengl, one time foreign press agent of the Nazi party, to Canada for continued internment there.

The request, the paper said it was informed, was made several days ago, before the disclosure that Dr. Hanfstaengl had been brought to this country to give information about Adolf Hitler.

The Star said "the British are reported to have questioned Hanfstaengl repeatedly and obtained no information they considered of value. He was sent to Canada, it is said authoritatively, after London decided that 'informationally he was a dry reservoir.'"

The American educated German, who once was the Fuehrer's favorite piano player, escaped from Germany in 1937 and was interned in Canada. He was brought to this country about 10 months ago. The state department yesterday denied he is an employé of the department.

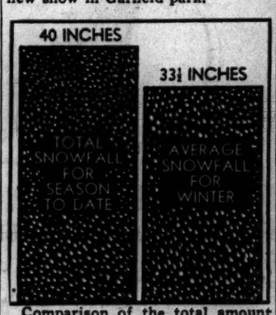
When It Snows

[TRIBUNE Photo.]

Anita McHarg looking over the new snow in Garfield park.



Comparison of the total amount of snow so far this winter with the average for Chicago.

Occasional light snow, with little change in temperature, is in store for Chicagoans today, the weather bureau forecast last night. Approximately four inches of snow fell yesterday.

All the traction companies brought their snow plows and sanders into action yesterday but reported no delays in service. Automobile traffic was slowed somewhat, but there was no increase in the number of accidents, police said. The Chicago Motor club described the driving conditions in the outlying districts as "very poor" because of ice beneath the snow.

Yesterday's snow brings the total fall for this month to nearly 20 inches and the total for the season to slightly over 40 inches.

DELAY IN BUDGET COSTING COUNTY $50,000 A MONTH

Because of the long drawn out work of making a budget, economies that may be adopted by the county board will apply only to nine months of the fiscal year, which began on Dec. 1.

The board is now considering a tentative budget of $18,647,000 [for operating purposes] which would eliminate more than 400 jobs in the county service. Most of the offices affected, however, went thru December and January with their regular forces and are now going into February with them. The cost of failure to start the job slashing is estimated at more than $50,000 a month.

Revenues from regular sources are about $750,000 short of meeting the projected appropriations. Last year the budget of 21½ millions was three millions over revenues conservatively estimated, and as a result the county now has five millions of unpaid bills.

ASKS VOLUNTEER SERVICE BY MEN TO AID HOSPITALS

Dr. W. P. Morrill, director of research for the American Hospital association, said yesterday that Chicago men can give valuable war time service by volunteering for spare time work in hospitals.

He pointed out volunteer hospital work that is being done by men in other cities. Some work as orderlies, he said. Others work in accounting offices, laundries, or kitchens, or as messengers. Volunteers come from many occupations and include bankers, lawyers, and insurance men.

Many of the positions require training before a volunteer is prepared to assume his spare time duties.

BYRD ASSAILS FLYNN; TO VOTE FOR REJECTION

Report Boss Considers Move to Withdraw.

BY JOHN FISHER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 29.—A staggering blow at the chances of Edward J. [Paving Blocks] Flynn being confirmed by the senate as minister to Australia and President Roosevelt's roving ambassador in the Pacific was dealt today when Sen. Harry F. Byrd [D., Va.] denounced the appointment and declared he will vote against confirmation.

Sen. Harry F. Byrd.

Byrd's statement was interpreted as bolstering the senate's mounting opposition to granting the high diplomatic post to Flynn, Bronx Democratic boss and former chairman of the Democratic national committee.

As Flynn's opponents counted between 49 and 53 votes for rejection of the appointment—a bare majority of 49 out of 96 votes is required for confirmation or rejection—there was increasing talk that Flynn may request the President to withdraw his name to save the administration the embarrassment of a serious defeat.

First Major Test.

The Flynn issue is the first major test in the new congress on the powers of the increased Republican majority and the anti-New Deal Democrats. The coalition has taken an early lead against the administration in this instance.

Three influential Democrats already have voted against the nomination—thru the senate foreign relations committee vote of 13 to 10 in favor of confirmation. The Democrats who voted with the seven Republicans on the committee are Senators Walter F. George of Georgia, Frederick Van Nuys of Indiana, and Guy M. Gillette of Iowa. The senate is expected to begin debate on confirmation Monday and to vote Tuesday.

Byrd declared Flynn is unfit for the post of a war time envoy extraordinary and asserted that a review of charges of misconduct against Flynn, on which the senate committee held hearings, "convinces me that, to say the least, there was a lack of ethical nicety shown by Mr. Flynn, which does not add to his reputation or his stature."

Need for Talent Cited.

"In this desperate war in which we are engaged, the battlefronts are in the diplomatic as well as in the military field," Byrd said. "On both fronts America needs today the best trained talents that can be found."

"So far as I am aware," Byrd continued, "the advocates of Mr. Flynn's confirmation make no claim of any peculiar qualifications that he possesses for the performance of the most difficult and vital duties that will come to him in the event of his confirmation.

"Great stress is placed upon the fact that he is the President's friend and that the President should not be harassed by the senate in rejecting the appointment. The very logical reply to this is that the President is harassing the senate in submitting a nomination which he must have known would create a bitter and acrimonious debate at a time when unity is most desirable."

ORDER 'LOWER 13' KILLING SUSPECT SENT TO OREGON

Los Angeles, Cal., Jan. 29 (AP).—Robert Folkes, 20 year old dining car cook accused of slaying Mrs. Richard James aboard a train last Saturday night, waived extradition today and was started back to Oregon, where the murder occurred.

Folkes appeared in Judge Byron Walters' court and agreed to be returned to Linn county, Ore. He was remanded into the custody of Deputy Sheriff Clay Kirk, who declined to take along several knives the Negro said he used in dining cars. Capt. Verne Rasmussen of the Los Angeles police said Folkes told him, "You'll never find the knife I used to cut the woman with."

MRS. LOUISE HUNTER WINDSOR.

Mrs. Louise Hunter Windsor, former opera singer, filed suit for divorce in the Superior court yesterday against Henry H. Windsor Jr., 419 Sheridan road, Winnetka, publisher of Popular Mechanics magazine, and a reputed millionaire. She lives at the Homestead in Evanston.

The suit, filed by Attorneys Robert E. Cantwell Jr. and Edwin C. Austin, charges cruelty. On Aug. 25, 1942, it is alleged, Windsor twisted Mrs. Windsor's wrists and threw her against a chair, and on Sept. 13, 1942, he allegedly knocked her against a wall. Mrs. Windsor asks custody of two sons, Henry H. III., 14 years old, and William T., 12, and alimony.

The Windsors were married Jan. 21, 1928, in New York City, and separated last September. Before her marriage, Mrs. Windsor was a lyric soprano with the Metropolitan Opera company.

COUNTY REALTY'S ASSESSED VALUE UP '14 MILLIONS

Cook county's real estate assessment valuation for 1942 tax purposes was announced yesterday by Assessor John S. Clark as $1,722,343,217. This is about 14 million dollars over the figure for 1941, or $1,708,473,527. The total assessment, however, is much smaller than last year, as Clark cut about 95 millions off the personal property rolls.

The new figures show that city realty is valued at $1,354,307,830 and that in the county towns at $368,035,387.

The board of tax appeals must still hear complaints on much of the personalty and all the real estate. Last year, the board shaved 11 millions from real estate and 32 millions from the personalty.

Because of the decrease in assessed values, a higher tax rate than the $9.89 of 1941 is anticipated. The Civic federation has guessed that it will be in excess of $10.35 and may reach $10.45.

Following are realty assessments for the city, towns, and county:

Township	Assessor, 1941	Assessor, 1942.

Grand total—
Cook Co...	$1,708,473,527	$1,722,343,217

Clark attributed the increased realty values to war plants and home construction, mostly in the suburbs and in Chicago's outskirts.

QUIZ TO ASK WHO WAS IN CHARGE IN CIO SHIP SCANDAL

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 29.—Rep. Warren G. Magnuson [D., Wash.] said today that he will ask naval and maritime commission officials to explain the law regarding who has authority over the unloading of ships in the investigation of the Guadalcanal incident. Magnuson is chairman of the house naval affairs committee inquiring into the story that marines at Guadalcanal were forced to unload a supply ship after the crew refused to work on Sunday.

The crew, according to the story told by three marines who recently returned from the Solomon Islands to Akron, O., were members of the CIO maritime union.

Magnuson and Chairman Carl Vinson of the full committee have already received a report from the navy, in which the story told by the returned marines is denied. Full details from Akron are being awaited. Magnuson said that public hearings will begin Tuesday if necessary information is received in time.

U. S. BUILT PLANES RIP AT RAIL LIFELINE TO NAZI SUBMARINE BASE

LONDON, Jan. 29 (AP).—American built Boston bombers today struck at the rail lifeline running across France to the German submarine base at Brest. Their target was the important 300 foot high viaduct at Morlaix, Brittany, over which runs the main rail track to Brest. An air ministry communique did not disclose results of the raid.

In other daylight sweeps—which cost Britain one bomber and three fighters and the Germans five fighters—American medium bombers smashed at Ijmuiden, Holland; Spitfires shot up trains and barges in northern France and Belgium, and torpedo bombers sank a large German supply ship off Norway.

Two German Junkers 88s were shot down over the Bay of Biscay today by four Beaufighters, the air ministry news service announced.

U. S. TROOPS TAKE LARGE JAP POST ON GUADALCANAL

Planes Attack Foe's Ships and Island Base.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 29 (AP).—American troops continuing their war of extermination against the Japanese on Guadalcanal Island captured a large enemy command post Wednesday, the navy announced today. It added that warplanes struck heavily at Japanese ships and base installations in the central Solomons.

A navy communique gave these results of operations:

Two Japanese destroyers, two cargo ships, and a tanker were damaged by American bombing attack. One of the cargo ships probably sank.

Capture Jap Equipment.

Thirty-six Japanese were killed and three captured when the command post was taken. Two additional pockets offering resistance were wiped out. A large amount of enemy equipment fell into American hands.

Ten Zero fighters were shot down with a loss of four United States planes. Six other Jap planes were probably destroyed.

Enemy installations on Kolombangara Island were bombed by army medium bombers which started a large fire at the Jap base.

While American ground forces were pushing forward on Guadalcanal the Japs sent over a force of dive and high level bombers to attack American base positions. American fighters intercepted them and the navy said that "incomplete reports indicate" that nine Zeros were destroyed and six others probably destroyed. The four United States planes, officially listed as missing, were lost at that time.

Frustrate Jap Attack.

The enemy attack was frustrated and none of the planes dropped bombs.

The American raid on Kolombangara Island, about 190 nautical miles northwest of Guadalcanal, also was carried out Wednesday. Marauder medium bombers with Airacobra fighters delivered the attack, and all returned safely.

Wednesday evening Dauntless dive bombers and Avenger torpedo planes, protected by Wildcat fighters, attacked an enemy destroyer and a cargo ship in Vella gulf between Kolombangara and Vella Lavella Islands. Two direct hits were scored on the cargo vessel which was "left sinking," the communique said, and several near hits damaged the destroyer which was left smoking.

The other destroyer and cargo ship and the tanker were discovered on Thursday, next day, about 14 miles northwest of Kolombangara where they were attacked by American bombers. One Zero was shot down.

GUADALCANAL'S PILOTS AND GUNS DOWN 584 PLANES

BY ROBERT CROMIE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

GUADALCANAL, Solomon Islands, Jan. 16 [Delayed].—The marked superiority of land based American planes and pilots over the Japs is shown in the report of air headquarters today.

Five hundred and eighty-four enemy planes were downed by American pilots and anti-aircraft guns from Aug. 20 to yesterday against a loss of 180 American craft and 99 pilots and crew members. This record was made over Guadalcanal and within flying range of here. The destroyed Jap planes included "washing machine Willie," one of frequent night visitors. This plane was shot down by anti-aircraft fire when it was trapped in the beams of searchlights.

The American victories were chalked up by army, navy, and marine flyers with Capt. Joseph Foss, Sioux Falls, S. D., marine ace, as high man with 26.

MacARTHUR'S MEN CHASE JAPANESE NEAR SALAMAUA

Allies Repulse Attack and Foe Retreats.

ALLIED HDQ. IN AUSTRALIA, Jan. 30 [Saturday]—(AP).—Gen. Douglas MacArthur's forces are pursuing strong Japanese patrols toward Salamaua, 140 miles northwest of Buna in New Guinea, after repulsing an attack west of Mubo, an allied headquarters communique announced today. Mubo is 12 miles south of Salamaua.

The Jap outpost at Mubo was the scene of a surprise raid by Australian and American forces in which more than 100 Japanese were killed and an enemy headquarters and a radio station destroyed during a recent three day action.

Target of Air Assaults.

Salamaua is only about 20 miles south of Lae, the most important Japanese base in all New Guinea. Lae has been the target in some of the heaviest allied aerial assaults of the southwestern Pacific war, and Salamaua has come in for its share of this pounding, too.

"Strong hostile patrols attacked our positions west of Mubo and were engaged by our outposts," Gen. MacArthur's communique said.

"Considerable casualties were inflicted on enemy detachments between Kaisinek and Wandumi. The enemy now is withdrawing with our forces in pursuit."

Confirm Jap General's Death.

This marked the first ground activity of note in New Guinea since the allies wound up their triumphant conquest of the Papuan peninsula with the capture of Sanananda.

Reaching northwest of the Salamaua area, allied medium and heavy bombers raided the Japanese held base of Gasmata on the southern shore of New Britain Island. They also bombed the runway at Cape Gloucester on the Northwestern tip of the island.

Briton Predicts 200 Ton Flying Boats After War

LONDON, Jan. 29.—Two hundred ton flying boats with a speed between 300 and 400 miles per hour carrying 100 passengers were foreshadowed by Squadron Leader H. M. McKenna, director of Short Brothers, builders of the "Sunderland." He said Short Brothers are contemplating the immediate construction after the war of flying boats for passenger and freight service of a total weight of nearly 100 tons compared to the present Sunderland's 27 tons.

WIDER FIGHTING ZONE FOR AUSSIE SOLDIERS IS SOUGHT BY CURTIN

CANBERRA, Australia, Jan. 29 (AP).—Prime Minister John Curtin today introduced in the house of representatives a bill to extend the geographical limits within which Australia's militia and conscripted soldiery may serve.

Curtin's amendment proposes that the militia and draft troops be permitted to serve anywhere south of the equator, east of the 110th meridian east longitude and west of the 159th meridian east longitude, but only in such particular areas of this zone as may be specified by proclamation.

The proposed liberalization of service laws, therefore, would open the entire southern hemisphere to Australia's draft armies at the premier's discretion. Its most likely immediate effect, however, would be to permit them to fight in the Solomon Islands, Timor, Dutch New Guinea, and the southern tier of the Netherlands East Indies.

A large part of this territory lies between the 110th and 159th meridians which encompass the Australian midland, but under the present law the militia and conscripts have been limited to service in the dominion proper and in outlying possessions and mandates within these boundaries.

Australia's overseas forces in the past have been composed of volunteers.

TELLS HOW RADIO DIRECTED SHIP'S GUNS OFF AFRICA

New York, Jan. 29 (AP).—A radio directed salvo from an American battleship 26 miles away destroyed beyond repair the resisting French battleship Jean Bart during the North African invasion, Rear Adm. Stanford C. Hooper has revealed.

"The deadly accuracy of firing by one of our battleships which destroyed the Jean Bart at Casablanca was made possible by radio communication," Hooper, navy consultant for radio and underwater sound equipment, told the Institute of Radio Engineers yesterday.

"As the first blast from our big guns, 26 miles away, struck the resisting French battleship, an observation plane flashed back the word of a direct hit on the dack, a damaging but not a fatal blow," he declared. "A slight change in elevation was signaled for. The next salvo struck the side of the ship at the waterline, smashing her hull beyond repair. Radio directed and reported the destruction."

DEAD JAPANESE DOT GROVE AFTER MARINE ASSAULT

Writer Visits Battlefield on Guadalcanal.

BY ROBERT CROMIE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

GUADALCANAL, Solomon Islands, Jan. 18 [Delayed].—The stench of unburied Jap bodies still clings to the acres of a blasted coconut grove two miles west of the Matanikau river. There a marine force using artillery, tanks, mobile guns, flame throwers, tore its way thru an enemy flank which was anchored on a beach. The Japs were rolled back nearly a mile and 643 of them were killed.

The marine losses were small. The attack was directed by Col. John M. Arthur of Union, S. C., and Col. R. H. Jeschke, Benton Harbor, Mich.

We visited a portion of the front where Jeschke's outfit made its attack. Our guides were Capts. Wilmot J. Spires, 25 years old, Winnsboro, S. C., and Homer Hire, 27, Fort Wayne, Ind.

See Ruined Barricades.

We drove a peep down the old government trail past sandbagged gun emplacements which served as our forward line until a few days ago, and into a flatland covered with coconut trees and undergrowth which the Japs held for weeks.

We saw the crumbling ruins of Japanese barricades and the enemy dead.

We went ahead some few hundred yards and parked at the roadside and walked toward a group standing around a Jap sniper who was killed less than five minutes before after taking a shot at some one from behind a tree, tho he [the Jap] was surrounded by marines.

From here Capt. Spires led us into a winding ravine 10 feet or so deep which twisted thru the grove toward a rocky cliff where Jap emplacements had commanded the lower ground. The ravine itself had also been one of the Jap strongholds, and along its entire length of perhaps half a mile were bodies, skeletons, gas masks, canteens, broken rifles, land mines, knapsacks, and medical supplies.

Find Foxholes on Slope.

In the side of the slope protected from American fire were dozens of tiny foxholes in which an occasional dead Jap still rested.

Other Jap emplacements were on both sides of the ravine, in staggered lines to form a defense in depth. Here, too, were savage reminders of the fury of the marine attack, such as the charred timbers of one gun position and a skeleton within. Enemy bodies were sprawled atop the debris.

Case after case of enemy artillery shells were abandoned by their owners, and one Jap field piece—about a three inch gun—had its muzzle twisted like a split dandelion stem, apparently the work of marine demolition experts who followed the shock troops.

Jap Wears Marine Uniform.

Deeper in the grove was the former Jap bivouac area. It consisted of dugouts lined with small tree trunks and rude huts where there were still the remains of partly cooked meals, cooking utensils and mounds of coconut shells. One foxhole had a marine canteen in it, and one dead Jap garbed in marine attire.

While we were at the front Jap artillery landed a couple of shells unpleasantly close—that is, some few hundred yards away. Shortly after we left one of the peeps hit a land mine along the road we had driven over, killing the driver, a marine lieutenant.

The marines said their casualties were small because of the extensive use of both field and mobile artillery. They also said that the Jap machine gun emplacements were so set it was possible for them to fire in only one direction, and the marines didn't come in force from that direction.

HEAR ITALY WILL CALL MEN 18, 19 TO ARMY APRIL 1

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Italy's 1924 military class, made up of 18 and 19 year olds, will be called up for service April 1, the Rome radio announced today. Italy also has taken new measures to mobilize its civilian population for a greater effort by replacing men workers with women, the radio said. The announcement followed similar steps taken in Germany. It was recorded by the Associated Press.

SCHEME BLOCKED TO GIVE DETROIT CITY'S MECHANICS

William H. Spencer, regional director of the war man power commission, squelched an attempt to recruit Chicago automobile mechanics for jobs in Detroit yesterday. He acted after hearing a protest from Don Burrows, business manager of local 701 of the auto mechanics union, who told Spencer, in a one hour interview, that Chicago is short at least 800 mechanics and that many trucks used for hauling war supplies are idle because there are no mechanics to repair them.

Burrows made his protest after the office of war information issued a news release urging experienced mechanics to apply for Detroit jobs. The release said T. D. Klatt, special representative of the civil service commission, would interview applicants in the new postoffice building.

When Klatt called Burrows, asking the union leader's aid in finding mechanics, Burrows made strong objections, then carried his case to Spencer. Spencer promised to stop any further attempted raids on the Chicago labor pool.

WAR FOR AFRICA STILL TO BEGIN, OBSERVER SAYS

Believes Rommel May Try Drive on Algeria.

[The following article was written especially for The Tribune by Alfred Wagg, who, since the outbreak of the war in the Pacific, has served as a war correspondent for American newspapers, magazines, and a radio network on a number of battlefronts from Africa to China. Mr. Wagg worked several years for the state department and other governmental agencies.]

BY ALFRED WAGG.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Jan. 29.—I have just arrived in London from China, after flying day and night for three full weeks. I have seen seven major battle fronts under the wing of a Flying Fortress. On an inspection trip I have talked with diplomats, generals, and hundreds of soldiers in the field, getting ideas from our men who are "up forward."

My observations while crossing Africa from Cairo to Algeria lead me to believe that the battle for Africa has not yet begun, and that Marshal Erwin Rommel's present retreat from Libya into Tunisia may be for an advance into Algeria on the offensive.

Crete, long forgotten, now is a dagger point at the British 8th army's back. There may be raids against the allies' sea and land supply routes by axis aircraft based on Crete.

Fifth Columnists by Glider.

I flew from behind Gen. Bernard Montgomery's lines across the enemy lines, on the first night of Montgomery's advance; and watched artillery flash across a hundred miles of sky and sea to the southward. Our Fortress landed at dawn on a southern Algerian air field.

I learned of the most recent development in this campaign, so far—the use of gliders for sending fifth columnists—nicknamed "Stiffeners"—behind the allied lines. They were intended to stiffen French resistance against the allies, and prepare the way for an axis advance.

Rommel seems to be betting that Montgomery's army, because of its giant size, will be awkward, and will be delayed, as it was a few weeks ago, while getting the necessary supplies before it can continue its advance into Tunisia. A major battle is anticipated in Tunisia before the objectives of the allied African campaign can be achieved.

Must Feed French Africa.

Indications are that plans for Rommel's present, systematic withdrawal were made some time ago. The German-Italian armistice commission's operations in French Morocco and Algeria last fall obviously were part of the same plan. For weeks prior to the American and British entry into French North Africa, the Nazis denuded the country of live stock, tools, and machinery.

The German preparations, which were most complete, threw the burden of feeding the population upon the allies.

I flew past the Himalayas and then across the Indian desert to Karachi, one of this war's colossal boom towns. At this crossroads I saw large convoys from the United States for the allied armies in India; and I watched a caravan begin its journey toward Russia.

NAZIS OBSERVE TENTH YEAR OF HITLER TODAY

LONDON, Jan. 29 (AP).—Germany, in the midst of the fourth winter of war, will observe tomorrow the 10th anniversary of Adolf Hitler's rise to power.

No announcement has been made that Hitler will speak, but war time conditions customarily veil his utterances until just before he goes to the microphone.

Dr. Paul Joseph Goebbels, the propaganda minister, will read a proclamation from Hitler, possibly dealing with the total mobilization of the civilian population — a move announced yesterday which drafts all men from 16 to 68 and all women from 17 to 45.

Goebbels will read the proclamation at 4 p. m. tomorrow [10 a. m. Chicago war time].

The usual decks of flags in the streets and other Nazi theatrics will be absent this year, Berlin announced.

BIGGEST U. S. AIR RAID IN TUNISIA PUMMELS SFAX

Forts Lead Attack on Vital Axis Port.

LONDON, Jan. 29 (AP).—The axis port of Sfax on the Tunisian coast, a communications and supply point vital to the enemy's scheme to join the army of Tunisia with that of Marshal Erwin Rommel from Libya, has been greatly damaged in the most powerful American bombing attack yet delivered in the war in North Africa.

This unprecedented raid—a "saturation" assault so effective that even the Italian high command acknowledged "heavy damage" to the port—was disclosed today in an allied North Africa communique that again reported no ground action of consequence.

Artillery Shells Rommel.

It was accompanied by word that Rommel's rear guard had been under British artillery fire in the Zuara area 35 miles short of the Tunisian frontier.

The Sfax raid, which was delivered yesterday, was driven home by the largest number of planes ever sent by the 12th United States air force against a single target. Flying Fortresses led off, followed and supported by medium bombers, B-25 Mitchells and B-26 Marauders and escorted by P-38 Lightning fighters. Six axis planes rising to the defense were shot from the sky.

Allies Lose Two Planes.

All these widespread operations in the Tunisia theater cost only two allied planes. An overnight enemy bombing attack in the Algiers area cost him three bombers.

There was no further word during the day of the activities of the American ground forces which earlier had been reported pointed toward the rear of the Mareth line in southeastern Tunisia, behind which considerable of Rommel's forces have been deployed.

POLITICAL UNITY OF FRENCH IS FAR AWAY—GIRAUD

De Gaulle Aid Predicts Uprising in France.

LONDON, Jan. 29 (AP).—French political complications concerning North Africa appeared as numerous as ever tonight. Gen. Henri Honore Giraud announced that he was in agreement with Gen. Charles de Gaulle only on "liaison on military, economic, and financial matters" and that no prospects of any single united French movement existed at present.

At the same time, a member of De Gaulle's own staff, returning from the Casablanca meetings, forecast a revolution in France when the German hold there is broken if ex-Vichy men continue to have a part in the North African administration.

"Even Gen. Giraud must understand that," said the Fighting French officer, Maj. Claude de Boislambert.

Politics Not Discussed.

Addressing a press conference at allied headquarters in North Africa, Giraud declared "the question of politics" had not been taken up with De Gaulle, the Fighting French leader, when the two were brought together during the historic Roosevelt-Churchill meetings.

"There is no question of a single united French movement thruout the world at the present time," said the high commissioner for French North and West Africa.

"We are establishing a permanent liaison on critical economic and military questions."

Giraud pointed out, however, that this discussion with De Gaulle at Casablanca was a preliminary step to others which would be taken.

"Both De Gaulle and I have agreed we must go progressively and methodically in our negotiations," he said.

Day to Day Régime.

In a statement issued before the conference, the high commissioner brought out for the first time that his government "does not aim at establishing any kind of régime, but only at assuring the best day-to-day administration of the French territories remaining free."

"This government is the temporary custodian of French sovereignty until the 40 millions of Frenchmen at home can freely express their opinions," the statement continued.

During the conference, Giraud asserted he was willing to give the Jews in North Africa back their property and allow Jewish children in the schools. He added, however, that "these moves must be made gradually."

Washington, D. They include Lt. Joseph M. Oblinski, 2914 Dawson avenue, Chicago, and Sergt. Gail L. Bahr of Pendleton, Ind.

QUIZ STETTINIUS ON HOPKINS ROLE IN LEND-LEASE

Also Ask Status of Farm Machines Sent Abroad.

BY WILLIAM MOORE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 29.—The house foreign affairs committee inquired into Harry Hopkins' status in the lend-lease program today when Edward R. Stettinius, lend-lease administrator, defended the program at a public hearing.

Edward R. Stettinius.

The committee also asked who after the war will get the 14 million dollars' worth of farm machinery sent under lend-lease to foreign lands and recalled that American farmers are unable to get sufficient machinery.

Members showed a lively interest in charges of Rep. Robert F. Jones [R., O.] that beer, powder puffs, and silk stockings have been exported under the program. Stettinius denied this story, told on the floor of the house yesterday. He said a few rayon hose were sent to Africa, but were to be sold for cash, not given away.

Lend-Lease Extension Sought.

Stettinius appeared as a witness in the first public hearing on plans to extend lend-lease for a year when its authority expires June 30.

The question of Hopkins' status was raised by Rep. Karl E. Mundt [R., S. D.], who asked:

"Would it be embarrassing to you to explain the functions of Harry Hopkins? He seems to take precedence over high military authorities."

Hopkins is listed in the lend-lease setup as American chairman of the munitions assignment board, of which there are five American generals, and he is known as unofficial head of the lend-lease machinery.

No Executive Duties Now.

"Before the lend-lease administration was established," Stettinius replied, "he acted as assistant to the President. Since the establishment of the administration he has had no executive duties."

"He has no veto power over you?" Mundt inquired.

"He has not," Stettinius answered.

Mundt also asked who would get the farm machinery after the war. Stettinius explained that it all is marked and that the United States would have the privilege of taking it back.

Stettinius' testimony was principally an explanation of his recent report on lend-lease operations. He asserted American aid has made the British Isles "an impregnable base for offensive operations."

He was asked by Rep. John M. Vorys [R., O.] whether lend-lease was keeping books on its transactions.

"We are," said Stettinius. "But we are not always able to record operations in dollars and pounds."

MUTUAL SYSTEM APPROVES PLANS FOR EXPANSION

Plans for expansion and greatly increased program service were approved by the board of directors and executive committee of the Mutual Broadcasting system at the conclusion of a three day session at the Blackstone hotel yesterday. A substantial increase in the network's budget was voted after Miller McClintock, Mutual's new president, had outlined the proposed improvements. This was Mutual's first meeting since McClintock was appointed president.

McClintock announced that stockholding stations, with affiliates, bring the Mutual chain to 212 stations.

Mutual also made plans for coöperation with the entire broadcasting industry, the office of war information, and other governmental war agencies for the successful prosecution of the war on the home front.

Attending the sessions, besides Mr. McClintock, were W. E. Macfarlane, W-G-N, executive committee chairman; Alfred J. McCosker, WOR, chairman of the board; H. K. Carpenter, WHK-WCLE, Cleveland; John Shepard III., Yankee network; T. C. Streibert, WOR; E. M. Antrim, W-G-N; Hope H. Barroll Jr. and H. W. Batchelder, WFBR, Baltimore; J. E. Campeau, CKLW, Detroit; Herman Fast, WKRC, Cincinnati; Ben Gimbel, WIP, Philadelphia; I. R. Lounsberry, WGR, Buffalo; Lewis Allen Weiss, Don Lee network, Los Angeles, and Fred Weber, general manager.

Malta Has First Raid Alert in Several Days

VALLETA, Malta, Jan. 29 (AP).—A brief alert sounded here at noon today, signaling the first axis air activity over this much-bombed island in several days, but only a few fighter planes crossed the coast.

DRIVE ON SALARY LIMIT BREAKS UP HEARING ON DEBT

New Dealers Fear O. K. on Repeal Rider.

BY WILLIAM STRAND.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 29.—A proposal for congressional action to remove the $25,000 salary limitation imposed by President Roosevelt last year forced a hurried adjournment of a meeting of the house ways and means committee today. Administration leaders, it was learned, refused to chance a vote on the question and sought an end to the session almost as soon as the proposal was made.

Committee action on pending legislation to increase the national debt limit from 125 billion dollars to 210 billions was postponed for a week. In the meantime, the administration spokesmen are expected to enlist the aid of the White House in combating the drive to repeal the salary limitation.

Senate Group Approves Increase.

The senate finance committee later in the day voted its approval of the raise in the debt limit but instructed Chairman Walter F. George [D., Ga.] to withhold its report until the house has acted on the measure.

Treasury representatives appearing before both groups indicated that the proposed new limit in national borrowing is not the end. They said that the public debt on Dec. 31, 1941, was 108 billions and it probably will be 135 billions by the end of the present fiscal year, ending on June 30.

Daniel W. Bell, undersecretary of the treasury, testified that a public debt of 210 billions, the full amount of borrowing power now being requested, is in store for the nation by the end of the next fiscal year in July 1944. Committee members said it is logical to assume, therefore, that the administration will return with requests for an additional boost in the debt ceiling before then.

Californian Backs Repeal.

The proposal for abrogation of the $25,000 ceiling on salaries was made by Rep. Bertrand W. Gearhart [R., Cal.]. The California congressman has threatened to move for its adoption in every revenue bill before congress until it is accepted.

Before the house committee, Gearhart demanded that the repeal of the limitation be attached to the debt limit bill. Congressional approval of the measure in this form would leave Mr. Roosevelt the choice of accepting action by congress overriding one of his decrees or vetoing legislation asked by the treasury to permit the raising of funds for the war.

As Gearhart arose to speak, it was learned, administration leaders on the committee conferred hurriedly and then proposed that the consideration of the entire matter be postponed until next Saturday. They argued that the President, who has been busy conferring on war strategy in North Africa, should be consulted before action is taken.

"Well informed sources said the administration had counted noses beforehand and realized it faced defeat if the repealer was put to a vote at today's closed session. Of the 24 members present, it was said, at least 13 were prepared to administer a congressional rebuke to the White House thru voting acceptance of Gearhart's proposal.

WEARS UNIFORM INTO TROUBLE.

John P. Strojny, 28 years old, 3635 South Paulina street, who said he couldn't resist wearing an army uniform, was held to the federal grand jury yesterday by United States Commissioner Edwin K. Walker on a charge of impersonating a military police lieutenant.

CAPTAIN REVEALS COURT MARTIAL IN COOLIDGE SINKING

Hit 2 Mines, He Says, with No Warnings by Navy.

[The following story has been reviewed by the navy and passed on grounds a ship's master has authority to clear his own statements.]

San Francisco, Cal., Jan. 29 (AP).—Capt. Henry Nelson, skipper of the steamship President Coolidge which struck a mine and sank while being used as a troopship in the south Pacific, has disclosed that he had been given a navy court martial and cleared in connection with the ship's loss.

Capt. Henry Nelson.

Capt. Nelson said that if the 22,000 ton ship had not been beached quickly "we would have lost at least 45 per cent of those aboard—she would have sunk in 20 minutes."

The steamship carried 4,000 troops somewhere in the Solomons area. Four men were lost, according to announcement by Secretary Knox last Dec. 15.

Capt. Nelson said that only two men, crew members, were found to have been lost when the final checkup was made. The captain said, too, that his ship struck a second mine. Earlier navy announcements said merely that the ship "struck a mine."

Put in "Protective Custody."

The captain disclosed that he was placed in "protective custody" along with his officers after the sinking. The navy flew him to a south Pacific island and held the court martial which acquitted him of all blame, he said.

Nelson explained his ship's loss this way:

"We contacted two destroyers prior to the entry [into a south Pacific harbor] where the ship struck the two mines. No information was given to us and no challenge was made by either of the two ships, and the first information was from a signal station in the harbor telling me to stop, that we were approaching danger.

4,000 Saved in 45 Minutes.

"I, in turn, stopped the engines and backed the engines, but with the speed that we were carrying, we still went too far and we struck two mines. I immediately, with the speed we had left, headed the ship for the beach and ordered 'abandon ship,' which was done and completed in 45 minutes by more than 4,000 personnel for which there is only a loss of two crew members."

When the navy communique announced the sinking Secretary Knox said the navy was making a "very thoro investigation." The navy secretary said he had no information that the Coolidge hit an American mine. The Coolidge cost 8 million dollars and was completed in 1931. She had set many records in trans-Pacific sailings.

FIVE AIRMEN DIE IN ARMY BOMBER CRASH

Colorado Springs, Colo., Jan. 29 (AP).—Five army airmen were killed late yesterday in the crash of an army B-25-C bomber from Peterson field, Colorado Springs, at Lookeba, Okla., Lt. Harold C. Harmon, public relations officer, reported today. Names of the personnel killed were withheld until next of kin can be notified.

Trainer Crashes; Two Die.

La Junta, Colo., Jan. 29 (AP).—An army training plane crashed and burned in southeastern Colorado last night, killing two army aviation cadets, Hugh F. Ness of Galion, O., and Lewis Newman, Weirton, W. Va. Their craft, a twin engine advanced trainer, crashed six miles west of Pritchett, while on a routine cross-country flight.

$5,000 BOND SET IN TECHNICIAN'S CITIZENSHIP CASE

Albert W. Krause, 46 years old, German born laboratory technician and engineer whose citizenship was revoked in federal District court last September, was admitted to $5,000 bond yesterday pending a decision on his case by the United States Circuit Court of Appeals. Krause was naturalized in 1929 and has been in federal coustody since his denaturalization last fall when Judge Philip L. Sullivan ruled Krause had sworn falsely when he took the oath of allegiance to the United States and never had intended to renounce allegiance to Germany.

Tax Returns Can Be Filed Without Security Numbers

Persons not having social security account numbers need not apply for them for income tax return purposes, H. L. McCarthy, regional director of the social security board, advised yesterday. "Some people have never used a social security number," McCarthy said, "but when they read the new income tax form and see that it calls for a social security number, they think it necessary to apply for an account number in order to complete the income tax form.

Mayor Kelly and two usherettes after he bought slice of cake for $50.

A slice of cake cost Ludwig Schreiber, city clerk, $500 yesterday. It was the first piece of the President's birthday cake auctioned off by Mayor Kelly on the first floor of the City hall. John P. Harding, chairman of the city civil service commission, purchased the second slice for $100.

Fifty dollar slices were bought by Mayor Kelly, James B. McCahey, president of the board of education, and Ald. James B. Bowler [25th]. The auction netted $2,500 for the Cook county chapter of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis.

The cake, aglow with 61 candles, weighed 177 pounds and stood four feet high. It was designed by Carlos Camerano and contributed to the chapter by Henrici's restaurant, 69 West Randolph street.

FREIGHTER SUNK BY U-BOAT OFF COAST OF AFRICA

Washington, D. C., Jan. 29 (AP).—The navy today reported that a medium size British merchant vessel was sunk in the South Atlantic off the coast of Africa in mid-October when hit by two torpedoes.

The fate of 35 persons aboard was described as still uncertain while 15 survivors safely reached land. Two officers and an apprentice seaman were killed by the torpedoes.

"While survivors were leaving the scene, the submarine surfaced and circled the floating débris," the navy said. "The commander, speaking English, asked the name of the merchantman and then ordered the submarine away."

to Africa and on his return has had many opportunities to visit and inspect vital points of the ferry command which is doing a most difficult job every day in sending planes and quantities of vital equipment from America to the middle east, to North Africa, to Russia, to the air squadrons in China, and to the Burma front."

The White House then added the following:

"The Presidents of the two nations—the United States and Brazil—are old friends and their talks were timely and profitable in every way."

Confer on Destroyer.

RIO DE JANEIRO, Jan. 29 (AP).—Presidents Roosevelt and Getulio Vargas conferred at length thru the day and evening yesterday aboard a United States destroyer anchored in the Potengi river harbor at Natal, the easternmost stronghold of the hemisphere, it was learned from new details disclosed today when President Vargas returned here by plane from the meeting.

High Brazilian and United States military, naval and air force officers attended the conferences devoted to discussion of Brazil's part in the allied nations war program in line with the Roosevelt-Churchill agreements previously reached at Casablanca.

The two presidents, representing the largest American republics, personally inspected the great air bases and military and naval installations here on a long afternoon tour.

President Vargas arrived at Natal late Wednesday afternoon in a four motored United States military transport plane from Rio de Janeiro. He disembarked at the military airport and immediately went aboard the destroyer which had dropped anchor in the winding river off Natal. President Roosevelt arrived in his great flying boat Thursday morning, landing at the seaplane base adjoining the river port.

In Brazil on Way to Africa.

With the official announcement of yesterday's meeting, authorities permitted the disclosure that President Roosevelt passed thru northern Brazil en route to Casablanca as well as on the return.

The flying boat bearing him from the north alighted at Belem, nearly 1,000 miles northwest of Natal. Just before the aircraft reached there, the air base was surrounded and no one was allowed to enter. The flying boat remained there for three hours.

Natal, situated on the "bulge" of Brazil, is the main western terminus of trans-Atlantic plane services operating between South America and Africa.

President Roosevelt arrived from Liberia, Africa, where he had visited President Edwin Barclay of that republic, reviewed a detachment of American colored troops and inspected a rubber plantation operated by the Firestone rubber interests of the United States.

Defer Murder Inquest to Investigate Suspects

Vaughn, 43 years old, 1239 East 46th street, was continued yesterday until Feb. 5 for further investigation of two Negroes who confessed they fatally beat Vaughn Thursday morning in an attempt to rob him at 47th street and Indiana avenue. The men, held by Wabash avenue police, are James L. Walker and Robert Rynes.

Time Changes Plague Two States

Split in Michigan

Lansing, Mich., Jan. 29 [Special].—Gov. Harry F. Kelly today signed, as the first completed enactment of the 1943 legislature, a bill to move the state's clocks back an hour at 2 a. m. Feb. 15.

Because the legislature a decade ago had adopted eastern time on a state-wide basis, congressional action last year pushed clocks in Michigan nearly two hours ahead of sun time, creating a chorus of protest, particularly from the agricultural population.

The Detroit area, whose vast war production machine is closely coördinated with industries and governmental agencies in the eastern time zone, preferred the new "fast time," however, and there were growing indications today that the metropolitan district, and perhaps some other Michigan industrial cities, might continue on eastern war time.

Many officials expressed alarm over the confusion they anticipated.

Two Kinds in Georgia

Atlanta, Ga., Jan. 29 (AP).—Altho Gov. Ellis Arnall signed a bill yesterday changing the entire state of Georgia from eastern to central war time, railroads and air lines announced they would continue to operate on eastern war time while mayors of several cities plan to consult their councilmanic bodies about what time will be adopted.

The merchants council of the Savannah chamber of commerce decided to remain on eastern war time, and banks announced they will observe the same hours until further notice. Augusta public officials and business interests indicated there would be no immediate change to central war time.

City Councilman John A. White of Atlanta announced he would introduce a resolution in city council Monday providing that Atlanta remain on whatever time is used by the federal government, railroads, buses and air lines.

ARMY PLANE WITH 9 ABOARD MISSING FIVE DAYS OVER CARIBBEAN

Washington, D. C., Jan. 29 (AP).—An army plane carrying seven officers and two noncommissioned officers has been missing over the Caribbean since last Sunday, the war department announced today.

Those aboard included Col. Walter Sumpter Smith, chief of the transport and facilities division, air support command, and Maj. Lewin B. Barringer, chief of the glider production and training unit, air support command.

Others on the plane were: 1st Lt. John L. D'Azzo, Tampa, Fla.; 1st Lt. Anees K. Khoury, Chester, Pa.; 2d Lt. John T. Torrillo [pilot], Bridgeport, Conn.; 2d Lt. Albert O. Bain [copilot], Walsenburg, Colo.; 2d Lt. John G. Marvin, Cincinnati [navigator]; Technical Sergt. Joseph Dragelis, Tamaqua, Pa. [engineer], and Sergt. John A. Miller, Kalona, Ia. [radio man].

Col. Smith formerly was in charge of construction of hundreds of airports by the WPA. Later he was chairman of the CAA air safety board and head of the commission which built the new national airport at Washington.

COLLAPSES IN LOOP STORE.

Mrs. Clara Hill, 63 years old, 3350 Sunnyside avenue, collapsed yesterday in a loop store and was taken to Henrotin hospital. She told police she had taken poison. Physicians said she probably will recover.

U-BOAT BUFFETS RAFT CARRYING 14 SURVIVORS

A story of how he and 13 other merchant seamen were almost spilled out of their life raft by a German submarine that came up under them after it had torpedoed their ship off the coast of Portuguese East Africa was related by Roy Frehse, 36 years old, when he returned home yesterday to Michigan City, Ind.

His ship was returning empty thru the Indian ocean when sunk at 2 a. m. Frehse did not say how many of the 61 men aboard were lost. Fourteen of them were paddling away in the raft when it slipped off the hull of the emerging submarine. Two German officers, in "schoolbook English," questioned the survivors briefly.

After a day in heat of 120 degrees, the party reached the coast. Frehse and two others traded concentrated food tablets for water in a native village, then met a white man who provided them with a guide for a 100 mile trek across swamps for help for the others.

Pacifist Ex-Gridman Gives Up to Begin Term

Charles A. Steele, 22 years old, former Indiana university football player, surrendered yesterday at the United States marshal's office to begin serving a three year prison term for failure to report to a conscientious objector's camp. Steele, a member of the religious sect, Jehovah's Witnesses, was convicted a week ago.

MORAN'S ARREST OPENS WAY FOR YEAR JAIL TERM

Arrest of George [Bugs] Moran early yesterday on a disorderly conduct charge ended a nine months search for the former gangster who is under a one year jail sentence for conspiracy to forge travelers checks. Also hanging over Moran's head is a $2,000 fine imposed when he and Frankie Parker, former airplane bootlegger, were convicted on the conspiracy charge in 1939.

After facing the disorderly conduct charge in South State street court today Moran will be turned over to the sheriff's office to begin his jail term.

Moran, a prohibition era rival of Al Capone, was arrested in a loop tavern after Ensign Alexander Hansen of the coast guard said Moran had bumped into him on the street nearby and then attempted to rough him.

When the lockup keeper at the Central police station asked Moran yesterday morning what he wanted for breakfast, the former gangster said: "Five aspirin tablets."

ASSURES SKILLED WORKER AGAINST LOW PAY FREEZE

Paul V. McNutt, chairman of the war man power commission, has sent a letter to Francis B. Murphy, state labor department director, assuring him that workers who take temporary employment outside their usual occupations, will not be "frozen" in jobs that do not require their highest skills.

Murphy had cited the fact that many of the state's 40,000 workmen on the unemployment compensation rolls were afraid to accept employment in agriculture and essential industry for fear they might be frozen permanently in low paying jobs. He wrote McNutt requesting a clarification of this situation.

The man power commissioner said that while skilled artisans in some lines of work may be retained in lower skilled jobs until their services are in demand at their higher skill and in essential industries, there is little likelihood that workers will be frozen "for the duration" in jobs below their regular occupations.

WIDEN DRAFT LIST OF VITAL JOBS IN COMMUNICATIONS

Recommend Deferments in 5 More Classifications.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 29.—Selective service today revised its list of essential communications services, adding five essential activities and increasing the number of essential occupations within various activities. It issued a bulletin on the change to guide local draft boards in granting deferments.

Added to the list of activities were the operation of magazines of general circulation devoted primarily to carrying public information; of protective signal systems which supplement fire and police protection to military, public and private industrial and commercial establishments; of radio communications—radiotelephone and radiotelegraph, and of submarine cable services; and the production of motion pictures.

First List in October.

The original list, issued last October, included the operation only of telephone and telegraph systems, newspapers, radio broadcasting systems, newsreels, and television services, and the repair of facilities.

Today's bulletin grouped magazines, newspapers, and news syndicates in one category and listed 25 occupations as essential.

In the newspaper field the change added news editors and photographers to the list of essential occupations. Previously managing editors and war correspondents were the only editorial classifications listed as essential. Wire-photo operators also were on today's list.

In motion picture production, 12 essential occupations were listed. Most of these are technical jobs, with actors not included. Motion picture production includes production of technical and vocational training films for the army, navy, and war production industries, as well as movies for entertainment.

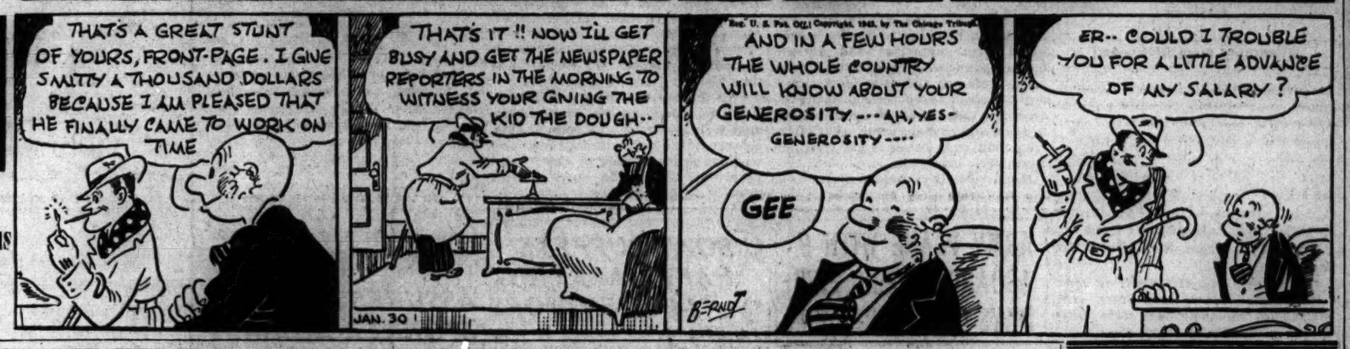
Boards Hold Final Decision.

Nine occupations were listed as essential in protective signal systems, 31 in radio communications, and 15 in submarine cable services.

Officials emphasized that the final decisions on individuals' deferment pleas must be made by local boards, subject to appeal.

"Blanket deferments, or deferment by groups, are prohibited by the selective service law," the announcement said, "and each case must be judged on its individual merit, with the skill, training and replaceability of the registrant being given consideration."

The bulletin includes more than 120 essential occupations, compared with 92 in the original list.



INVESTIGATE LAX POLICE METHODS IN GEM HOLDUP

As police last night sought three bandits who held up and robbed three widely known Chicagoans and their wives of $16,800 in jewelry Wednesday night, Commissioner James P. Allman was investigating failure of Hudson avenue police to report the robbery to the detective bureau so that news of the crime could be broadcast by police radio.

Five special squads under the command of Lt. J. O'Connor have been assigned to patrol the Lake Shore drive district to guard against a repetition of the crime.

The three couples held up were Walter J. Cummings, chairman of the board of the Continental-Illinois National bank and Mrs. Cummings, Franklyn Bliss Snyder, president of Northwestern university, and Mrs. Snyder, and Rolly Cain, executive vice president of the Abbott laboratories of North Chicago, and Mrs. Cain.

The bandits took the jewelry from Mrs. Cain after the party, returning from a concert in Orchestra hall, had stopped their car in front of the Cummings' home at 1500 Lake Shore drive.

DOG ESCAPES CRATE.

A large black and tan Airedale broke out of a shipping crate at 13th street and Indiana avenue, yesterday and fled from Railway Express employes.

Friend of the Yanks

[The Friend of the Yanks department will answer questions about the draft and military service, both in the daily columns and by mail, if stamped, self-addressed envelopes are sent with the queries.]

C. D. J. asks: "Can you tell me what insurance protection and disability benefits are payable to members of the merchant marine? What is the cost? Can they get the national service life insurance the same as soldiers and sailors?"

ANSWER: The licensed and unlicensed personnel of the maritime service are covered by a $5,000 war risk insurance policy payable to a named beneficiary, the premiums on which are paid by the government. In addition, all merchant seamen enjoy certain privileges of social insurance, apart from and supplementary to, all war risk insurance currently in force. Disability benefits vary and are based on the type and degree of disability. For example, if the insured loses both hands, both arms, both feet, both legs, or both eyes, etc., he receives 100 per cent of his insurance policy. The loss of one hand pays 50 per cent; one arm, 65 per cent; one foot, 50 per cent; one leg, 65 per cent; one eye, 45 per cent; total deafness, 50 per cent. Members of the maritime service as yet are not able to purchase national service life insurance, but legislation is now before congress which will entitle these men to purchase this insurance and, at the same time, extend to them all of the benefits accorded members of the land and naval forces of the United States. Further information on the insurance, etc., of the maritime service is available from Director, Insurance Division, War Shipping Administration, 99 John Street, New York City.

K. H. H. asks: "Does the army now accept enlistment of men 40 years of age who are qualified for special branches or specia' work?"

ANSWER: The army will accept voluntary enlistments of men 38 years of age or older if they are physically fit and possess special aptitudes or qualifications of immediate interest to that branch of service.

H. E. K. writes: "I would appreciate your advising if a soldier's wife may file her income tax report as the head of a family and take the $1,200 deduction? If this is possible, must she include her husband's military income and can the simplified tax form be used?"

ANSWER: The treasury department has advised that the $1,200 married exemption may be divided between husband and wife, or either may take the whole amount. The treasury has also asked that when the husband is in service, that husband and wife file separate returns. A wife should not try to file her husband's income tax because the wife ordinarily does not have accurate knowledge of her husband's military income since this information must be obtained by the husband thru his finance officer. If it is easier for the wife, or to her advantage, she may use the simplified tax form. If your husband is in service, send us stamped envelope addressed to him and we will send him "The Yank's Guide to 1942 Income Tax."

ARMY AND NAVY TO SHARE DRAFT FORCES MONDAY

Selectees May Express Their Preference.

Chicago's draft induction stations—515 Franklin street and 166 Van Buren street—will begin taking men Monday for the army, navy, marine corps, and coast guard. The branch to which a draftee is assigned will depend largely upon the man and the quotas to be filled.

So far as possible, draftees will be allowed to express a preference of service. Assignment will depend upon the monthly quotas assigned to the navy, marines, and coast guard. When these quotas are filled, those remaining will go into the army.

Navy Requirements Stiffer.

Because of higher physical requirements, the sea branches will be unable to accept many men fit except for defective vision or color blindness. Such draftees will go to the army.

Mental examinations at induction stations also will help determine a draftee's fitness, especially in the navy.

Draft registrants classified 1-A, but not ordered for induction, still may volunteer for service thru local boards. They also will be permitted to express a preference.

Only Two Classes at Center.

At induction centers, the draftees will be divided into only two classifications—army and navy. Men chosen for the navy then will be allocated among the navy, marines, and coast guard. Chicago stations will continue under command of Col. Edward F. Shaifer.

For selection of aviation cadets, army and navy will continue recruiting of youths 17 years old and permit them to complete their education. Any inducted draftee may apply for flight training.

Most of the enlisted reserve corps students in colleges will be called to active duty at the conclusion of the current semester, the war department announced in Washington, D. C., yesterday. Exceptions are students taking medical, engineering, or premedical courses, who, generally speaking, will be ordered to active duty at the conclusion of the first semester beginning in 1943.

ARMY TO ACCEPT WOMEN AS AIR FORCE TEACHERS

Positions as student instructors for the army air force are available for women with college degrees, the civil service commission announced yesterday. Appointees will be paid $1,960 per year during a three month training period and $2,420 upon successful completion of the course. Information is available at the new post office building. Other vacancies exist for inspectors of signal corps equipment, typists, stenographers, and adding machine operators. Signal corps inspectors are not required to have schooling beyond the eighth grade, or any previous experience.

OBITUARIES

Percival C. Lewis.

Percival C. Lewis, 6926 Sheridan road, died yesterday of a heart attack in North Chicago hospital at the age of 58. He was a retired brigadier general of the Massachusetts National Guard and at the time of his death was employed by the army signal corps in Chicago. 10 HURT AS BUS SKIDS AGAINST RAIL ABUTMENT

Ten persons were slightly injured last night when a Surface Lines bus skidded and crashed against a railroad abutment at Peterson and Ravenswood avenues. The injured were taken to Edgewater hospital and all were released after treatment except one passenger, Harry Bernstein, 32 years old, 6120 North Rockwell street, who was kept overnight for observation. Harold Jepsen, 38, the driver, who was among those injured, told police the bus had skidded on the slippery street and had swerved against the abutment.

STATE DISPUTES PUCKETT'S STORY OF WIFE SLAYING

Lafayette, Ind., Jan. 29 [Special].—Mrs. Ella Mae Puckett, 67 years old, was killed by a bullet fired from the side of the automobile on which her husband, Will, 64, was sitting while driving, according to evidence offered by the state here today at the opening of Puckett's trial on wife slaying charges.

Charles B. Kemmer, youthful prosecuting attorney, began presentation of the state's case following selection yesterday of a jury after a week and a half of effort. In his opening statement he said the state will attempt to prove that Puckett killed his wife, whom he married last March after a mail order courtship, in the hope of obtaining her $25,000 estate.

Mrs. Puckett, who lived at 7840 Kenwood avenue, Chicago, was slain Nov. 6 on a lonely Indiana road while she and her husband were on a motor trip to Lafayette to visit his son. Puckett reported the slayer was a hitch-hiker.

5 SCHOOLS ALTER HOURS TO EASE TRANSPORT LOAD

New Program to Take Effect Monday.

Opening and closing hours will be changed in five public high schools Monday to relieve transportation facilities, Charles De Leuw, office of defense transportation administrator, announced last night.

Only the hours of pupils traveling on congested street car and bus lines will be changed in most instances, De Leuw said, but a voluntary program embracing other students at these five schools and students at three other high schools will be urged.

Five Schools to Change Schedules.

The five schools with specific schedule changes to be made on Monday, the start of the second semester, are Lane Technical High school, 2501 Addison street; Lake View High school, 4015 North Ashland avenue; Tilden Technical High school, 4747 Union avenue; Hyde Park High school, 6220 Stony Island avenue, and Marshall High school, 3250 Adams street.

Students at Austin High school, Senn High school, and Amundsen High school will be asked to walk to classes, De Leuw said. The plea will be made thru the school principals with the support of George Cassell, assistant superintendent of schools in charge of the high schools.

Changes Scheduled Monday.

Specific changes which will go into effect Monday are:

Lane Technical—The school day of 1,650 pupils will start at 8:40 a. m. instead of 8 a. m. Others will be asked to walk.

Lake View—The school's two sections will start at 8:30 a. m. and 9:15 a. m. instead of 8 a. m. and 9 a. m.

Tilden Technical — Students using the 47th street car line will have revised programs and all students with 8 a. m. study hours will report one period later.

Hyde Park — Students using the southbound Stony Island street car will have revised programs.

Marshall—Approximately 1,500 juniors and seniors will start at 8 a. m. instead of 8:30 a. m. Other classes also will have revised programs.

STREET CAR FIRM TO STUDY USE OF NEGRO WORKERS

Thomas C. Strachan, attorney for the surface lines, informed members of the city council's local transportation committee yesterday that company officials next week will consider demands that Negroes be employed as street car conductors and motormen. Negro groups have charged discrimination.

Ald. James R. Quinn [50th], chairman of the committee, expressed hope the company would solve the problem.

Lee Friedman, counsel for the Chicago Motor Coach company, told the committee bus lines have not discriminated against Negroes. The only reason the company has not employed them on buses he said, is that no Negroes have applied.

The local transportation committee also took steps to stop long haul refusals by taxicab drivers because of greater profit in short trips, by calling upon the taxicab companies to post notices that drivers will carry passengers to their destinations.

LOUISIANA SUGAR RAISERS SOURED BY U. S. RED TAPE

Squeezed by High Costs and Price Ceilings.

BY ARTHUR EVANS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New Orleans, La., Jan. 29.—The sugar growers are among the groups in Louisiana which criticize Democratic agencies for retarding food production essential to winning the war. It is regarded here as one of the symptoms of the revolt which seems spreading in the Democratic south against the New Deal.

Among the grievances aired by sugar planters are a ceiling price which does not cover increases in costs of labor, bags, and machinery, the shortage of labor, the difficulty of getting replacements of machinery parts, and the deluge of questionnaires from Washington. In Louisiana sugar cane is raised on some 302,000 acres, by about 12,000 growers, ranging from the large plantations to small farmers.

More Production Asked.

The agricultural department is asking for increased production this season, and the producers are seeking from Washington an increase in ceiling prices, and more man power, especially in the harvesting season, which runs, roughly, from October into January.

The American Sugar Cane league figures Louisiana requires normally about 60,000 men, mostly floating labor, for the harvesting, and this last season it had about 35,000 and was some 40 per cent short of the usual supply. Cultivation of the crop normally takes about 59,000 other workers. The crop was harvested this last year despite the shortage of labor, but the planters say this was made possible because there was no killing frost.

Price set for the raw sugar was $3.73 a hundred weight, unchanged from the year before, and the crop brought in $37,129,000 for raw sugar and blackstrap, the league computes. Meanwhile labor costs, the league declares, advanced about 30 per cent.

Tells of Grievances.

Some of the grievances aired by growers in Louisiana's sugar parishes were described today by Charles A. Farwell, chairman of the educational committee of the sugar cane league.

"All the farmers," he said, "are working to help win the war which is our one big job. Sugar planters are against inflation, but there can be no criticism when they raise objections to bureau rulings which impede the sugar industry, which is classified as an industry essential to the war effort. The criticism is against actions that are retarding prosecution of the war.

Delayed Getting Parts.

"Here's a man, for example, a sugar grower who is a college graduate with two sons who are high school graduates. He wanted some $200 worth of machinery parts. He told me they quit work to spend a day and a night filling out the forms. This was in December and he said recently he has not got the parts yet. It's a typical instance.

"Let me narrate a personal experience. In one day I had visits from two wages and hours agents. In the morning one alleged I was underpaying some of the men. In the afternoon the second investigator was raising hell because I had raised the pay of some of the workers. The wages in both instances referred to were on the same plantation.

Production Costs Advance.

"The growers figure they should have an advance in ceiling price for this year's crop, but the price is the same as last year. They are not getting a break in ceiling. In 1941 we sold half of the crop for $3.50 and the price was later raised to $3.73. Our average for the entire crop was $3.61. We have a ceiling of $3.73, which is the same as last year, but meanwhile what commodity is there that has not advanced? Costs of growing sugar cane have gone up.

"Labor has been advanced about 3 per cent, the cost of bags has gone up, mules have gone up from $200 to $400 each. Everything else is in line. Machinery repairs have more than doubled in the sugar mills. For instance, a mill job that cost me $9,000 two years ago, cost $20,400 the last time.

"The Louisiana sugar people feel they have been the victims of more New Deal experiments than any other group in the country. They will exert themselves to the utmost to produce to the limit but all this tape tangles them up and retards their efforts, and the price, labor and machinery situations should be improved."

Canvassers Start Task of Checking Registrations

The canvass of registration lists for the mayoral primary and aldermanic election Feb. 23 started yesterday, and by 10 o'clock tonight all canvassers must have their suspect notices in the mail. Two canvassers were assigned to each of the city's 3,760 precincts. Most of them obtained their materials yesterday morning and started canvassing shortly afterward.

THE QUESTION.

What is the most difficult thing you ever had to explain to a child?

WHERE ASKED.

Michigan avenue and Jackson boulevard.

THE ANSWERS.

E. V. Walt, salesman, 5652 North Natoma avenue—My daughter had heard many fairy stories in her life and she believed them. She wanted me to explain to her why she should believe in a supreme being and ignore the existence of fairies. That's one of the biggest orders I've had for a long time and one that left me at a loss for the right answers.

Jack J. King, wholesale oil dealer, 431 Lenox avenue, Oak Park—Whenever, after a series of detailed explanations, my daughter asked, "Why, daddy?" I knew I was in for it. It was always most difficult for me at those times to maintain my patience and continue the explanation. And now I'll soon be starting all over as a grandfather.

Mrs. O. H. Du Bois, auditor of United States maritime commission, 3731 Pine Grove avenue—When my youngest daughter was 5 years old her daddy was rushed to the hospital and he never returned. It was always hard for me to answer her questions about him and to explain to such a young child the meaning of death.

Dominick Velo, electrical draftsman, 11015 Wallace street—If my little nephew hadn't known so much about it himself, it would have made it much easier for me to explain it to him. He wanted to know exactly what thunder and lightning were and he asked an embarrassing number of intelligent questions about them that stumped my own knowledge.

Lois K. Carr, file clerk, 1334 Grove avenue—I remember how disappointed I was when I first learned the truth about Santa Claus and I was sorry to be the one to have to explain it to my younger brother. He found out just a little bit about it at school and it was up to me to answer his questions so he would still maintain his faith in humanity.

Dr. Arthur H. Klawans, physician, 33 South Central Park boulevard—It was hard for me to explain to the two oldest children in the family that their mother had an incurable cancer and that there was no hope of her recovery. I had to tell them that things would be much easier for her if she were never to come out of the anesthesia.

ALDERMAN ROSS ABANDONS RACE IN 40TH WARD

Dr. Joseph C. Ross, Republican alderman of the 40th ward since 1929 and a candidate for reëlection in the Feb. 23 primary, announced his withdrawal from the contest in favor of George O. Ibsen last night. The alderman made his announcement at a meeting of the 40th ward Republican organization at 4717 North Kedzie avenue. He told the meeting he was withdrawing to conserve his health.

Ibsen is president and John J. McKeone is chairman of the 40th ward Republican organization, a faction distinguished from the 40th ward regular Republican organization.

Dr. Ross' withdrawal leaves two Republicans, Ibsen and L. W. Spuller, and two Democrats, Samuel P. Gurman and Julius Sherwin, in the race, which is nonpartisan and will go into a runoff unless one of the four is given a clear majority in the primary.

M'KIBBIN CAUSE ADVANCED WHEN REDS ASSAIL HIM

G.O.P. Mayoral Candidate Pledges Economy.

BY GEORGE TAGGE.

George B. McKibbin yesterday received what his followers called additional help in his race as regular Republican organization candidate for mayor. The Communist party distributed an eight page leaflet calling for his defeat. Communists thru similar tactics have aided in the election of other Republican candidates.

The Communists assert that McKibbin and his supporters—called "this gang of copperheads and traitors"—"give not a whoop about better schools, improved transportation, or clean streets."

Speaks at Ward Rally.

McKibbin emphasized city economy in a speech last night at a 16th ward rally at Knights of Pythias hall, 65th street and Marshfield avenue.

"You have a right to get full value for your money," McKibbin said. "The tax bills you and I pay have been mounting steadily the last 10 years while Chicago has been in the grip of the Kelly machine. Are your homes better protected? Are your streets in better condition? Have you better park facilities? Are you satisfied with your schools?

"If we ask these questions often enough between now and April 6, the people will answer them by voting to end machine rule and to establish a new era of economy and effective administration in the city hall."

McKibbin also spoke before a group of Negro workers at 5049 South Michigan avenue.

Former Judge John H. Lyle, independent G. O. P. candidate, planned a busy radio program and continued his first hand investigation of street car service at 4 to 6 o'clock in the morning.

Promises Improved Service.

"This morning I saw defense workers, despairing of getting to work on time by street car, pile into open trucks at 35th street and Crawford avenue and 35th street and Ashland avenue," Lyle said. "They paid 10 cents apiece to ride standing up in the snow like prisoners of war. As mayor I will tear aside fakery and see that our workers get decent service."

Headquarters of Arthur F. Albert, anti-organization Republican candidate, announced that his campaign manager will be William C. Boyden, attorney long active in the Business Men's committee, anti-vote fraud group. Boyden said Albert offers "all independent thinking men and women their best chance to smash the invisible government and beat the political machine." Boyden said he would drop his pending contest of the election of State Sen. William J. Connors, who defeated him by ...000 votes last Nov. 3.

EXPERT VERIFIES PEEK-A-BOO MOON IN FLYNN TRIAL

Los Angeles, Cal., Jan. 29 (AP).—An astronomer, bearing a celestial globe, mounted the witness stand today in the rape trial of Errol Flynn and testified that there WAS a moon the night Peggy La Rue Satterlee, 16 year old showgirl, says the film actor invited her below decks to have a look at the moon thru the porthole

Prof. C. H. Cleminshaw.

The astronomer, Prof. C. H. Cleminshaw, acting director of Griffith observatory, indicated there not only was a moon shining that night on romantic Santa Catalina Island, but that it was quite a moon. He described it as being within three days of full. Defense witnesses had testified it couldn't have been seen thru a porthole.

The trial was adjourned until Monday when more state rebuttal witnesses are to be called.

CONTRAST SPEED OF STATE AND U. S. AGENCY ACTION

Highway department executives from 18 Mississippi valley states, opening a three day conference yesterday in Chicago, heard statements contrasting the speed of federal and state agencies on matters of war necessity.

Addressing the 125 executives in the Palmer House, Maj. Arthur G. Siegle, chief of the war department's highway engineering branch, pleaded with the highway men to file complete data on projects they submit to the federal government, in order to avoid priority delays that may change the entire project.

Then Samuel C. Hadden, Indiana highway commissioner, told how his state waived written applications and fees, and worked out a route for an out of state contractor who wished to move heavy equipment over Indiana roads to a war job. The response to this from the office of defense transportation was a lengthy review of the case, citing the fact, however, that it had been handled in six and one-half hours. But the ODT report concluded:

"Can you please explain to us this serious delay?"

CONVICT KILLED AND 2 WOUNDED IN PRISON BREAK

Waupun, Wis., Jan. 29 (AP).—Sharpshooting tower guards dropped three men off the 22 foot west wall of the Wisconsin state penitentiary today, foiling the escape of four convicts.

Arrow locates scene of escape attempt.

Seventy minutes after the four started their dash from the prison tailor shop, one convict was dead; two were wounded, and the fourth was back behind the bars.

The break was attempted as the tailor shop crew arrived at its second floor post after breakfast. Some one pulled the electric switches in the tailor and shoe shops and laundry, plunging the building into darkness.

In the resulting confusion the four convicts, Frank [Bigfoot] Kopjar, Charles Bennett Jr., Wendell Fowler, and Raymond Ramazini tried to escape over the prison wall. Kopjar, shot by guards in the body, fell outside and died a few yards away. Bennett, shot in the eye, toppled back inside the enclosure. Fowler was found wounded in the thigh hiding a block away, and Ramazini, the only one not injured, was quickly captured in a garage four blocks away.

Suit Contesting Election of Judge Crowe Dismissed

The suit contesting the election of Judge Robert E. Crowe to the Superior court was dismissed yesterday by Judge Benjamin P. Epstein of the Circuit court. Judge Epstein ruled he had no jurisdiction because the suit was filed more than 30 days after the election had been officially proclaimed. The action was brought in behalf of John F. Tyrrell, Republican, who contended that Crowe's 12,955 vote margin was obtained fraudulently.

HITLER'S TEN YEARS.

Herr Hitler's tenth anniversary is not a happy one for him or for the German people. They are not only up to their ears in a war they can't win but they're in need of the assurance given them by the Casablanca conference that they are not to be obliterated. This concession is to make peace seem something less than suicide to them. It will not meet the approval of many of our planners who propose to put a policeman in every village and a schoolmaster in every classroom. Ten years of Heil Hitler are supposed to have so developed abnormal national characteristics that a new generation must be raised under different tutelage before a German can be trusted with the freedom of the world.

There are many millions of people in Europe now reduced to servitude and starvation who want to tear the Germans to pieces and probably will if they are not restrained by the troops which enter the defeated country. Adolf in his ten years has engendered the greatest mass hatred Europe ever knew and many of his victims are not remarkable for self-control. The day of deliverance may, indeed, present a problem to the authorities who receive the surrender.

Mussolini's association with the Fuehrer has been his ruin. He is probably now chattering to himself in the Palazzo Venezia and seeing things behind the curtains. He has reduced the Italian people to abject misery in a position very little better than that of the subject peoples. He has completely lost his Roman empire, his legions are dragging their spears, and the Appian way will see nothing of them. The happy legionnaires are in prison camps. The Italian people are hoping for an allied victory and hope that it may be quick, before they have to suffer any more privations, submit to any more indignities, and endure any more of the ravages of war.

Adolf's other allies, Rumania and Hungary, have even now almost as much reason to regret his existence as have their neighbors, the Jugo-Slavs, and they have the additional discomfort of realizing that when Hitler is thoroly licked they are on the wrong side of the fence and cannot be as jubilant in the general delivery from oppression and brutality.

Hitler, looking back over ten years, can see a remarkable sum total of things that a man ought not to do. His morality and his mind may be too distorted and his temperament too hysterical for him to realize what his abuses of power have done, but on his emotional side he can at least realize the gravity of defeat. He and his collaborators were diabolically brilliant in their ideas and in the execution of them. The world was not prepared for such a combination of skills and cruelties. Hitler could make his progress step by step because it was almost impossible to believe that such a person was a reality or, when the reality was proved beyond doubt, that it could continue to exist.

This is probably Hitler's last anniversary. It is no longer dangerous dreaming to have some feeling of confidence that he will not be in control of any one's destinies on this day 1944. These ten years have been years which a future Germany probably would be very glad to expunge from its history and from the recollection of the world.

ANOTHER MILEAGE CUT.

The office of defense transportation has warned bus and taxicab operators to get ready for another mileage cut that may run as high as 30 per cent of present reduced mileage allowances. Director Joseph B. Eastman says the preparations are to be made against a possible emergency.

There are far greater numbers of cabs in operation in New York than in Chicago, altho far fewer activities with a direct relation to war are centered there and far more with a direct relation to theaters and night clubs. Chicago already has submitted to a relatively greater cut in bus and taxicab mileage than New York, altho our other transportation facilities are badly overloaded.

This new mileage reduction "in the event of emergency"—and Washington is good at discovering emergencies—would look a good deal more acceptable if it were confined to sections where a real, and not phony, emergency is likely to materialize. That certainly won't be in Chicago, where we have had severe mileage restrictions foisted upon us without any gasoline shortage to justify it. People have to get around somehow and we've just about reached the irreducible minimum in giving up the means to do it.

BIG SHOTS AND THE LAW.

On Wednesday night a party of six returning from a concert was held up at the entrance to the apartment building at 1500 Lake Shore drive. Jewelry valued at more than $16,000 was stolen at the point of a gun. The victims were prominent citizens: Mr. and Mrs. Walter J. Cummings, Dr. and Mrs. Franklyn Bliss Snyder, and Mr. and Mrs. Rolly Cain. Mr. Cummings is chairman of the Continental-Illinois bank. Dr. Snyder is president of Northwestern university. Mr. Cain is executive vice president of the Abbott laboratories.

The police of the Hudson avenue station were notified but seem to have kept the matter to themselves, in violation of departmental orders to report robberies at once to headquarters. Capt. Jack Horan of the Hudson station says his men acted as they did at the request of some of the victims who wished to avoid publicity. Chief of Detectives John L. Sullivan says he knew nothing of the robbery until 18 hours after it occurred. Accordingly, a general alarm was not sent out to squad cars and the police lost the opportunity to catch the criminals before they went into hiding.

It is more than a little disturbing to find that discipline in the police department is as lax as this incident shows it to be. The business of the police is to prevent crime and catch criminals, not to do favors for citizens, prominent or otherwise. The rule of the department to notify headquarters when robberies have been committed is a sound one which the welfare of the community demands. There should be no deviations from it to satisfy anybody's whims.

The policemen concerned are not alone to be blamed. We do not know which of the victims may have sought to keep the matter a secret, but certainly his or her action was stupid and cannot be wholly excused on the grounds of excitement. It should have been obvious that the news would come out before long and that suppression would only make it bigger news. More especially, it should have been obvious that persons of prominence are entitled to no special favors at the hands of the police. On the contrary, such people should have the intelligence and the pride not to ask or accept them. If the word gets about that big shots receive preferred treatment a lot of little shots are going to wonder what all this talk about equality before the law really means. That kind of questioning isn't going to promote law enforcement in this community or anywhere else.

THE ANTI-AMERICAN PRESS.

The overwhelming proportion of the American press is loyal, responsible, hard working, and alive to American interests. It is in harmony with the beliefs of its readers because it is dedicated to the preservation of American institutions and American rights in the world. It isn't in anybody's pay and it can't be commanded by offers of political preferment or favored treatment at home or by snobbish social patronage from abroad.

But there is another segment of the press which seems bent upon subordinating a free citizenry to an all powerful central government as the first step toward subordinating the nation to foreign domination. Sometimes the ascendancy of the British or the Russians, even the Chinese, seems uppermost in the minds of this group of publishers. Sometimes the compromise of our sovereignty by yielding to some kind of superstate is favored.

Whatever the motive, it cannot be said that this minority element of the press is distinguished for its attachment to the life we have known and which the American people, by clear indication last November, propose to restore. Sen. Bennett Clark, seeking a generic term, once described this element as the "vermiform appendix" of the press. Un-American might be a more appropriate designation.

The collection is a strange one. One hardly expects to find such a heterogeneous assortment as this all bundling together in the same bed. There is Mr. Marshall Field III., who can think out loud in two daily newspapers and still maintain an enviable privacy. There is another Chicago paper, small in size and in influence, which is carried in the hip pocket of a paper corporation. There is a third one in Chicago whose publisher leapfrogged over the backs of the stockholders and into the cabinet. At least these sheets have the one point in common that they are controled by eastern money.

There are the newspapers whose owners principally use them as a means to social advancement. The families that own the New York Herald Tribune and the San Francisco Chronicle come to mind. There is the Des Moines Register, whose owner, Mr. Gardner Cowles, is endeavoring to graft internationalism onto the plains of Iowa after succumbing to Wall street and to Mr. Wendell Willkie.

Nor must one forget Mr. Henry Robinson Luce, the voice of the barber shops, who was dubbed representative of "Anglo-American Nazis" by Dr. Felix Morley, president of Haverford college, who found that Mr. Luce was "flirting with an ambition which is painfully close to being an Anglo-American counterpart of Hitler's program for a 'master race.'" Then, too, there is J. David Stern's Philadelphia Record, upon which the New Deal has often smiled.

Women and children first is usually the rule, but Mrs. Dorothy Backer of the New York Post seems entitled to the place of honor at the rear of this precious procession. It was she who permitted an unfounded and shocking accusation to be printed against a United States senator who is one of the most eminent Catholic laymen in America. When another senator referred in passing to Mrs. Backer as an "old hussy," the chivalrous instincts of the pinko New Republic were aroused. It complained that the senator "used language about Mrs. Backer that no gentleman would use under any circumstances." The gentlewoman in question had been making the vilest charge possible against a man's honor without justification, but the propriety of her language was not questioned.

This is just about the works. There isn't a real newspaper man in the crowd, but the noise emitted by each of them is so strikingly similar to that of all the rest that the suspicion cannot be avoided that their activities are conducted from some central point. It might be Willkie; it might be Willkie's boss. There is a kind of teamwork, but it's about what you'd expect from a basketball team of fat girls somewhat clumsily throwing the ball to one another. Nothing like an effective passing attack has yet been worked up.

Indeed, the performance so far has been so inept that there is little reason to fear that the country will be damaged by it. It is, of course, true that in certain sections the beliefs of the people are not represented by the press, but these citizens possess their own relief. They can always buy a newspaper that does reflect America.

Editorial of the Day

CONTRASTS IN REPORTS.

[St. Louis Post-Dispatch.]

Our navy department's foolish policy of playing down the gravity of the U-boat menace was well contrasted in the news yesterday with the British admiralty's policy of at least approximating the losses so the public will have less reason to become unduly optimistic. Quoting from the Post-Dispatch Washington bureau story: "Losses from a recent United States-British convoy were reported by the admiralty in London as 10 ships, with others possibly lost or heavily damaged. In referring to the arrival of this convoy at a British port, our own navy department reported that the damage done had been 'negligible.'"

Rightly enough, the admiralty regarded the losses as substantial. It also must have concluded that the Germans had a fairly accurate idea of the losses inflicted, or else it would not have revealed as much of the facts as it did. The wolf pack system the U-boats now employ and the use of scouting planes makes it hard to conceal information from the Nazis on the damage they do to convoys.

Such a contrast as exists between these two reports is strong evidence that the Christian Science Monitor was on the firmer ground when it charged approximately 1,000,000 tons of shipping were being lost monthly, and Secretary Knox countered with the assertion, "That figure is wrong."

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

MR. PEPYS BECOMES A PIONEER.

30th Jan.—Have been receiving jeers from friends and colleagues because I ate a carp and said it was good, which goes to show pioneers are without honor in this country, except when they are characters in books. Have been greeted with the raised eyebrow and the curled lip by fellows who lack the courage to eat a carp and the fine palate to enjoy one when properly prepared. Have also received letters from ancient American fishermen, denouncing me as a press agent of the new carp pond industry.

Thus they jeered at me a year ago when I introduced a new style in dress—a fancy waistcoat in the MacArthur tartan, to honor our great general. Yet this week I saw an advertisment of a haberdasher who said he had fancy vests to sell, calling them "contrast waistcoats," and calling this the latest fashion. So I was a year ahead of the times with my MacArthur vest.

Every winter I have been proclaiming the merit of long, warm underwear for men, only to be howled down by fellows who wear flimsy, panty-waist garments and, while shivering, think they are as rugged as polar bears. But this severe winter has brought merchants' announcements of my kind of underwear. So I again pat myself on the back as a leader.

My blizzard-buster cap has been mocked at for a decade, but when the temperature dropped to 13 below, all the hardy fellows whose ears would never freeze came out in caps with earlaps. I noted with a haughty smile that most of these caps looked as if they were found in junk heaps or borrowed from truck drivers and duck shooters.

Furthermore, about two months ago I put a poor little joke into my chatter about books in the Sunday paper. It was read with disdain in literary circles. The other night it cropped up on the Fibber McGee radio program and was applauded all over the country.

ON GUADALCANAL.

On Guadalcanal (an isle men never heard of Till now), a deed's been done fate never dreamed—
A destiny wrought out there'll still be word of Long centuries from today, that pens ne'er themed!

In Guadalcanal's hell-heat and devil's jungle
Of scorpion, and peril, and sing of flying death,
Mad sun-blaze, madder moon-maze, and the bungle
Of steel thru flesh, and breasts that have no breath,

An epic's being fashioned, ghastly and splendid,
From shapes a-smoke in the sky and bones in the slime,
A sea destroyed of its calm, an earth unmended,
And new blood shed whose every drop's sublime!

You can hear the Beast Man's gasp in his victor's clutch;
You can mark stark maniacs bayoneted to doom:
But of this on Guadalcanal not overmuch
Will ever be known . . . for who can question the tomb?

Suffice that on Guadalcanal lies Apollyon slain
By lads who smile at an isle they never heard of—
And a thousand years from now men still in vain
That saga's fame will be seeking the final word of!

Remarks Tagged for the Ash Can.

Linemaster: I am grateful for your war on rubber stamp phrases. Before you leave the battlefield, please fire a shot at the phrase, "That's right!"

If after listening for several hours to Prof. Einstein's difficult theories I should show a glimmer of understanding and make an intelligent comment, I would not be surprised to see him look encouragingly and brightly at me and chortle, "That's right!" But when I simply remark to the street car conductor, "Does this car stop at such a corner?" and get a sparkling, "That's right!" or to the grocer, "Are these the small peas?" and get a fervid "That's right!" and so on thru the day, I begin to get a superiority complex and imagine that I'm getting to be a very smart person and catching on remarkably well.

So please make them stop it and save "That's right" to encourage idiots and infants.

UNFINISHED SYMPHONY.

(Franz Schubert, born Jan. 31, 1797.)

The music floats as if a rapturous bird
Rose in his singing when the day was young—
Now, somber tones, as one who moved among
The quiet shadows, and who strangely heard
Singers go down to silence with their word
Less than half spoken, and their songs unsung;
Youth's fresh, impassioned melodies are flung
Against dread fate with love and joy deferred.

There is a song that vanquishes the dark
When life has laid its little candle by;
For love may find a vast and shining arc
Beyond the reach of mortal ear and eye,
Where Heaven gives back the morning to the lark
As it gives back the singer to the sky.

A Philosopher Gets Some Exercise.

There is good in everything, even in "sneak" radio commercials, whereby grown men [between programs] squeal, howl, grunt, and emit other amazing noises, the object being to sell things. Some of the products I like, so the instant the "sneak" starts I leap from chair, couch, or wherever I may be, to turn off the noise before I hear the name of the article being ballyhooed, and so I can keep using it with a clear conscience. I am getting pretty good at it, and it is wonderful exercise. Quizzicuss.

THE SUBSTANDARD CHILD.

EVERY now and then we will observe a youngster who seems unable to keep up with others of the same age. As a rule he is spindling and undersized, as tho he didn't get enough to eat.

A study of home conditions may reveal that plenty of edibles are available. The parents will relate, however, that Johnnie has always been "dainty"—particularly at the table. He is rarely hungry and "picks" at his food. In consequence weight will be below average for height and age. While activity may be within normal limits, endurance is limited.

Such a situation must not be allowed to persist. While mental development may not be interfered with, physical stamina will be lowered substantially unless the cause can be discovered and remedied.

What are the things to look for? All too often these children are victims of a low grade infection which is lurking on mucous surfaces, about the tonsils, or within the sinuses. Occasionally a remote part will be affected. According to some authorities, the basic difficulty is rheumatism which, however, does not affect the joints alone. Nevertheless aches and pains will disturb repose.

The youngster may experience a goodly amount of discomfort, with obvious disability, which will appear at times in the ankles, knees, wrists, elbows, and shoulders. As the acute twinges wear off, the victim will be left weak and depressed.

What is happening? The little one is just unable to summon sufficient reserve to overcome a smoldering infection. Help is needed and there are two plans of management. The patient may be put to bed on a resistance building program. This includes a high calorie diet divided into six or more feedings a day. If no temperature is exhibited, and we can assume that the lining of the heart has not been damaged [endocarditis], the lad may be allowed to get up for approximately two hours daily. Enough amusement must be provided to keep the mind occupied. The blood should be examined as a few will require additional iron.

The other procedure involves the use of vaccines. If the organisms can be recovered from the patient's throat and grown, well and good. If not, a standard preparation will be found useful. A "shotgun" preparation will include many varieties of staphylococci and streptococci.

Within a few days appetite will be aroused. Sleep will be more even and relaxed and many a sufferer—within two or three weeks—will desire to join in vigorous play. A case that came under my observation recently was that of a "scrubby" boy whose parents could not persuade him to eat and whose slumber was broken and fitful. He was always complaining altho no particular site of distress could be located.

Under the vaccine regimen he gained a pound a week. In a month's time he had undergone a physical rebirth. Apparently this patient had been unable to build an immunity to the various organisms which were growing within his body.

A hidden focus should always be considered in cases of this kind because the pain is really rheumatic. If success will come with bed rest and forced feeding, so much the better. If not, vaccine therapy can be employed.

SUIT YOUR TASTE.

A. A. writes: Should all the raw items be eaten before the cooked—for instance, the salad before the meat?

REPLY.

It makes no difference. The stomach cares little whether you start with pie or with soup. By the time edibles reach the intestine they are well jumbled up.

"I FORGOT."

N. S. writes: What is the cause of a poor memory?

REPLY.

Less blood to the brain, due to narrowed vessels—arteriosclerosis. Other factors to be considered include indifference, inattention, and fatigue.

NAIL CUTTING.

D. M. writes: Should the toenails be cut round or straight across?

REPLY.

Straight across—a positive rule.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

Writers should confine themselves to 200 or 300 words. Give full names and addresses. No manuscripts can be returned. Space for letters is obviously limited. Incoming mail far exceeds it. If a letter is not printed, attribute it to lack of room. Address letters to Voice of the People, The Tribune.

THE BIG BUILDUP.

Chicago, Jan. 26.—For some days radio announcers and commentators urged us mysteriously to glue our ears to the radio on Tuesday at 9 p. m., for we would hear an official announcement of earth shaking importance that would astonish, startle, delight, and thrill the American people. The buildup was put over in a big way and in the proper super-stupendous Hollywood manner.

So we listened, and what did we hear? That the President and the prime minister had met at Casablanca and had issued a statement that the axis was to be made to surrender unconditionally. The high powered commentators then for 30 minutes told us what a remarkable, astounding, and history making pronouncement this was.

So the mountain brought forth a mouse. What a letdown.

H. D. Bennett.

Davenport, Ia., Jan. 26.—Will you kindly tell me why a two day buildup by persons unknown to most of us has turned out such a flop? Roosevelt could have talked to Churchill by trans-Atlantic telephone. Why the buildup?

Leon H. Hass,

Chicago, Jan. 27.—So much ballyhoo had preceded last night's announcement that I am sure the news had a depressing effect when heard over the radio. An agreement to win the war is not going to frighten the axis powers merely because it was arrived at in a spectacular manner. Airplane flights deserving of so much ballyhoo should be made by Doolittle and his men.

FARM MACHINERY.

Palos Park, Ill., Jan. 21.—I want to express my appreciation of the fine work you are doing in your paper to help get farm machinery for us farmers. I think the condition is worse than most people realize.

I went to a farm sale yesterday to try to buy some machinery for our farm here. Old, worn out machines sold for twice their value. Stuff that in normal times would be junked was sold.

Your editorials on this subject were grand and to the point. Please keep up the good work until we can get some action. If we need more food, we have to have means to produce it. Washington must realize this or we are all sunk.

ABOUT THAT PALM BEACH TRIP.

Palm Beach, Fla., Jan. 25.—Answering the criticism in Jan. 23, Voice of the People, regarding a Chicago couple driving to Palm Beach in an automobile, I wish to inform "C. B. W." that Florida property owners are allowed gas for the trip down to their homes [for which they pay taxes to the county and state]. Returning north is another matter, of course.

While in Palm Beach, the car used on this trip has been practically turned over for use of men in service, especially on week-ends, for which remaining gas has been cheerfully donated. F. M.

SERVICE ACADEMY APPOINTMENTS.

Chicago, Jan. 26.—Referring to the editorial of Jan. 26, "Appointments to West Point" [I assume this also applies to Annapolis appointments], surely you are aware that the congressmen from Illinois hold competitive examinations for the selection of their appointments to the academies, and further that any young man of the proper age may enter these competitive examinations. With the exception of Sen. C. Wayland Brooks, whose examination is conducted by the American Legion, department of Illinois, all others are conducted by the civil service.

Your editorial infers that the present appointments have been handouts or that they have been made in some dishonest manner. I firmly believe that any properly qualified young man who works hard enough and trains himself sufficiently can qualify for appointment thru these competitive channels to either of our academies.

My son studied two years at Kentucky Military institute and one and one-half at the University of Illinois to qualify for appointment to Annapolis. He took three separate competitive examinations, the Annapolis mental examination, and the physical examination at Great Lakes. After finishing third in Sen. Brooks' examination, he received the principal appointment from Rep. Chauncey M. Reed to the naval academy.

The method of choosing a small number of candidates from the army is quite worthy, but I take issue with you that all appointments should be made from the ranks of the army. In peacetime this would mean that it would be necessary to enlist in the army for a three year hitch in order to have an opportunity to qualify, and would mean a cessation of all further university training for the disappointed enlisted man who did not receive the appointment.

STRETCHING YOUR CLOCK.

Chicago, Jan. 25.—A recent letter about inability to buy an alarm clock prompts this. If you can't get an alarm clock, make an electrical connection to the two hands of your kitchen or any other clock in series with a line socket to a 100 watt bulb right over your face in bed.

I used this method in 1922 instead of using an alarm clock and it never failed to awaken me. It also was a nice arrangement in that it did not awaken any one else in the flat or building.

The light remained lit for as long as I wanted. I adjusted the wires on the hands of the clock for this.

IMPERIALISTS DUG THEIR OWN GRAVES.

Chicago, Jan. 25.—A recent statement by Col. Romulu, former Philippine newspaper publisher and now a member of Gen. MacArthur's staff, shed a good deal of light on the cause of allied defeats in Asia and the East Indies. In his travels before Pearl Harbor he found that the natives harbored a deep resentment against the Dutch and the British because of their insistence upon maintaining a frigid atmosphere of "white superiority." Asiatics, he states, "were not welcome" in the better hotels and restaurants.

The rottenness which bred the fall of Singapore, Burma, and the Netherlands East Indies was the result of a decayed gentility enforcing a reluctant attitude of respect upon people whom circumstances made subservient. There could be no loyalty under those conditions, for loyalty is based upon mutual respect.

BIBLE SCHOOL PROFITS.

Davenport, Ia., Jan. 27.—I wish to add my voice to those which have expressed a desire to see Lt. Whittaker's account of his experiences in the Pacific published in booklet form. This story can be the means of strengthening the faith of many people in these dark times and may be the means of convincing many a doubter. It is my opinion that churches all over the country would be eager to offer this valuable testimonial to their congregations. My Bible school students [14 year old boys] have been reading it during class and have received a great deal of inspiration from it.

THE RED CROSS EMBLEM.

Oak Park, Ill., Jan. 25.—An editorial in today's Tribune objects to American firms being requested to cease using the words "Red Cross" as a brand name. It may be of interest to read article 23 of the Geneva convention [1906] which is as follows: "The emblem of the red cross on a white ground and the words Red Cross or Geneva Cross shall not be used either in time of peace or in time of war except to protect or to indicate the medical units and establishments and the personnel and material protected by the convention."

AFTER TEN YEARS

Olivia Little and Oden Meeker to Be Wed in Evanston Today

BY JUDITH CASS.

FOR her marriage this afternoon to Oden Meeker Miss Olivia Little, youngest daughter of the Charles George Littles of Evanston, will wear a gown reminiscent of other bridal parties. The dress which the willowy blonde bride will wear to the altar of Evanston's First Methodist church has been made from heavy satin which lined the wedding gown of her aunt, the late Mrs. Francis Wigmore. With the gown today's bride will wear a girdle of pearls which were part of her mother's wedding costume and a cap of heirloom rose point lace belonging to her aunt, Mrs. Morris K. Wilson.

The bride's sister, Mrs. Briggs Gettys of Richmond, Mass., will serve as matron of honor, and her young son, Frank Gettys, as ring bearer. Also in the bridal party are Mrs. Jack Gauntlett of Kalamazoo, Mich.; Miss Margaret Foot of New Haven, Conn.; Mrs. Jeffrey R. Short Jr., Mrs. Charles Fuller, Miss Ruth Russell of Montclair, N. J., and Miss Faith Wilson. Murray Nelson and Dorothy Payne will stretch the ribbons before the ceremony. Arthur A. Burrows Jr. will serve as best man, and Jere Patterson, John Wilson, Donald Payne, Dr. Charles Dunham, Mr. Short, and Robert Stockton as ushers. Mr. Meeker, son of the Lawrence A. Meekers, will take his bride to New York to live.

Mrs. Culbertson Carr Is Wed in New York.

Mrs. Culbertson Carr and Charles Hosmer Morse Jr. are being married quietly at 4:30 o'clock today in the New York apartment of his sister, Mrs. Wolfgang Beck von Peccoz. Another sister of the bridegroom, Mrs. William S. Covington, and her husband will be among the small circle of guests. Mr. Morse and his bride will have a wedding trip to Florida before going to St. Joseph, Mich., to live. The bride, the former Vesta Culbertson, formerly was the wife of Robert F. Carr Jr. It will be Mr. Morse's second marriage, too, for he formerly was married to Elizabeth Bonbright of Detroit, now Mrs. James Simpson Jr.

A number of relatives of Miss Carolyn Wheeler and of Lt. [j g.] John Higbie Palmer are in Virginia Beach, Va., for the marriage at 5:30 o'clock today of the two young south siders. A reception and supper at the Country club will follow the ceremony in the Episcopal chapel in Virginia Beach. Among those present will be the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Edmonston Wheeler; Lt. Palmer's mother, Mrs. Percival Bowditch Palmer Jr; his sister, Mrs. H. Ferris White Jr.; Percival B. Palmer III., who will be his brother's best man, and Miss Carol Beuhring, who will be maid of honor. Lt. Palmer is stationed in Norfolk, Va., with the naval air corps, and he and his bride will live in Virginia Beach.

The presence in town during the last few days of the newly married Lt. and Mrs. Peter Ball brought the belated news that the bride's sister, Mrs. Fleury Leonard Elting, has been Mrs. Richard Rice for more than a year. Mr. and Mrs. Rice and her little daughter, Fleury Elting, reside in New York, where the former Hope Leonard lived with them until her marriage last Tuesday. Lt. and Mrs. Ball are leaving today for San Francisco.

Princeton Club to Hold Annual Meeting Today.

A meeting of the Princeton club of Chicago at noon today at the University club will be a specially interesting one as it will serve as the annual meeting of the organization and also celebrate the graduation of the 1943 class today at the university.

The commencement address by Dr. Harold W. Dodds, president of Princeton, will be heard over the radio from 1:05 to 1:30 o'clock. Lt. [j. g.] John P. Wilson, Jr., who is stationed at Great Lakes, will preside over the luncheon. Up for election to Lt. Wilson's post as president is George E. Rose. Other officers up for election or reëlection are Donald B. Lourie, Tilden Cummings, Gilbert Osgood, and Joseph W. Hibben.

After weeks of enthusiastic planning, the Chicago committee of Poetry magazine will open its fine arts lecture series to raise funds for the magazine with a talk at 11 o'clock today by Frank Lloyd Wright. The veteran architect's discussion of "The Real Issues" is expected to draw a large crowd to the Arts club, where luncheon will be served later. Among those entertaining will be Mrs. James Herbert Mitchell, Mrs. George Stanton Channer Jr., Mrs. William Bowe, Mrs. William B. Hale, Miss Edith Wyatt, Mrs. Gustave Carus, Miss Lillian Powers, Mrs. Thomas Reynolds, Mrs. John D. Casey, and Miss Dorothy Collins.

Mr. and Mrs. Victor M. Harding Jr. [Julia Burley] have named their second daughter Mary Elizabeth, but she will be called "Polly." The baby, who was born on Jan. 23 at the Presbyterian hospital, and her sister, 2 year old Julia, are grandchildren of Mr. and Mrs. Harding Sr. and of Mrs. Clarence Burley of Winnetka.

Gertrude Lawrence Will Give Tea for Midshipmen.

AWVS members in uniform will assist Gertrude Lawrence when she entertains at tea from 5 to 6 o'clock tomorrow at the Seneca hotel for 150 midshipmen at Northwestern's naval reserve school. The actress, whose husband, Richard Aldrich, is a lieutenant commander in the navy, will be assisted by Miss Priscilla Payne, Miss Peggy Sargent, Mrs. Watson McLallen, Miss Mary Louise Laird, and Miss Theodore Bremner. The hostess will wear her own uniform as a lieutenant in the Red Cross motor corps.

Bobsledding, ice skating, and dancing will be included in a gay winter sports outing planned for tonight as one of a series of evening parties for north shore young people of junior and senior high school age. The party will start at 8:30 o'clock at the Skokie Country club.

The North Shore Curling league, whose weather worries are the opposite of those of most organizations, is afraid the temperature won't be low enough this week-end for the O'Grady cup matches, for which the Indian Hill, the Exmoor, the Skokie, and the Milwaukee curling rinks were to have competed today and tomorrow. The Milwaukee club had planned to send two rinks for the competition at the Indian Hill club and the dinner tonight.

One hundred and twenty-five young people in costume will compete at 3 o'clock today in the skating races and senior and junior figure skating championships at the Winter club's annual carnival.

Dr. Gerhard Schacher, radio commentator and war news analyst, will tell members and guests of the Tavern club why "Hitler Cannot Win This War" following the club's tally ho breakfast tomorrow.

A large crowd heard the presentation of a $100 war bond to L. Stoddard of Hudson, O.—otherwise unidentified at the time—by Capt. Benyaurd B.-Wygant, Skeets Gallagher, Buddy Ebsen, Hugh Marlowe, and Cyrilla Dorn. Capt. Wygant, on behalf of the settlement, thanked the wives of navy officers stationed here who are doing volunteer work at Emerson House. [TRIBUNE Photo.]

Front VIEWS and PROFILES

Something Wrong.

Not since the attack on Pearl Harbor has there been an American production of "Madame Butterfly." Bearing that in mind we can't figure out why now, of all times, WJWC decides to schedule the overture to Rossini's "Italians in Algeria." Shouldn't it be the postlude? The musical dictionary defines the latter as "an outgoing voluntary," and altho there may be some who think the Italian retreat is involuntary, those who know them know better.

The R. A. F. Sees America.

Two R. A. F. boys, Philip Carter and John Wright, were in Chicago last fall on a brief leave from a training mission in Canada. Recently they wrote Jack Stephens, a friend here, their impressions:

"Well, now, what did we think about America? There is something big about it, something hard to explain. It gave us the impression of being young, friendly, and alive like some young animal; full of play, but at the same time always on the alert.

"The vastness of the country astounded us. What surprised us most was the terrific mixture of faces. We had no idea such a huge proportion was Italian, Polish, German, etc. The average Englishman doesn't realize that. We have always been schooled so much about the Mayflower that most thought the Pilgrim fathers were on a par with Adam and Eve, doing overtime, tho.

"America is different, too, in another respect. Altho people may speak another tongue, be of different stature, or even color, they are, as one might say, branded with the Stars and Stripes. It is wonderful how they are blended together under one roof and seem to have only minor family troubles. This is undoubtedly healthy, and it is the solution to all of our problems in Europe. We are sure it has to come there. It seems that the entire population of Europe, especially the continental side, will have to be mixed up and a United States formed. Without it we shall always have bad feelings because of the national spirit which is pumped—not bred—into people."

The remark, overheard, "But posture is so important this year!" . . . The woman who writes, "Can't something be done about the poor little ragged flag at the top of the huge flagpole before the United States Court of Appeals?"

Chest-Warmer Has Charm of Smart Sweater

BY REA SEEGER.

Chest warmers for the rest of the wintry weather are cleverly made of wool yarn. They were copied from the swank dickeys of piqué, lace, and other sheers. But these chest warmers look like a sweater showing above the vee neckline of a suit jacket. For they're really fake numbers, neat knitted vestees in six different colors, coral, azure-blue, white, black, violet, and beige. The neckline is ribbed in a round outline and the vest part, back and front, is knitted in a regular sweater design stitch. Priced under two dollars, they will do about 15 dollars worth of effective contrast duty combined with warmth.

Many of the clever new veilings are in exquisitely sheer effects, with pastel pinks, blues, yellow, mint-greens, a stunning new tobacco brown, copper, extraordinary new beige tones, and plenty of misty grays and whites.

Emphasis is on the exciting chicken wire mesh, dramatic open mesh patterns copied from the actual chicken wire used on poultry farms. This material looks like a million on smart white hats and the newer millinery models of blonde and pewter gray satin. It performs as smoothly on any of the new felt hats, with or without brims.

The new spring veiling is important because the chenille dots are missing. Most of it is as fragile looking as a cobweb and the mesh patterns stress the outsize of the holes or the daintiness of such delicate designs as leaves, bowknots, small flowers, and meandering scrolls, copied from the fine French veiling of long ago.

Women in War Work

By Kate Massee

Army librarians and hostesses are now decked out in new uniforms prescribed by the war department. The skirt, jacket, and overseas type cap are of pale blue gabardine, worn with a shirtwaist of white poplin or broadcloth. There also is a fleece-faced blue overcoat, and the insignia on the jacket and cap is fan shaped and multicolored, to represent all branches of the army.

Following a survey of coast guard shore bases and administrative offices to determine what jobs women can fill, more than 20 types of jobs—a list reading like a vocational catalog—have been opened to SPARS in the coast guard reserve. This announcement was made yesterday by Ensign Mary L. Kennedy, procurement officer for the SPARS and the first officer assigned to duty in the middle west.

To train for these jobs, successful applicants will have six weeks' boot training on a college campus. In this period women will learn the ways of military life and coast guard traditions and customs. Some trainees then will be sent to active duty, while others, selected on the basis of aptitude tests, will go to specialist schools at other universities, where they'll be trained for special duties.

Coast guard officers have indicated that advancement will be rapid for women, since the organization is expected to grow quickly and take over more of the shore duties of the service.

Pay and allowances are identical with the amounts paid men. Enlisted women will receive a $200 uniform allowance, $2.75 a day for subsistence and quarters where not provided, and a base pay of from $50 to $126 a month. This means an average of $35 a week, including uniform proration.

Women desiring further information may write or call at room 1175, Board of Trade building. Ensign Kennedy will grant interviews and send information upon request.

Announcement has been made by Lt. Mary Daily, officer in charge of WAVES procurement in this area, that beginning next week the offices in Chicago will remain open until 9 o'clock on Mondays and Fridays to handle the influx of prospective candidates for the women's naval reserve.

Lt. Daily, whose office remains open each day from 8:45 until 4:30, said the new schedule is being inaugurated for the convenience of business women and girls who are unable to get to the loop before the daily closing time. She and her assistants will interview applicants aged 20 thru 35, with at least two years of college education. The offices are in room 1175, Board of Trade building.

A group of Chicago women, wives of naval aviators in the first World war, have organized to aid in recruiting girls and women in this district for the WAVES. Mrs. Richard Hummer is president, and her executive committee consists of Mrs. Warren V. Woody, Mrs. Arthur Gallagher, Mrs. Carl Olson, and Mrs. Otis Beeman.

[This department reports on women's war activities and answers questions regarding such activities.]

Alliance Francaise Talk.

"Romance and Silence in a Glass" will be the subject of Mrs. Daniel H. Bruch Jr.'s talk at 11:30 o'clock today before the Alliance Française.

Thru the Looking Glass

A talent scout we know told us the other day that what is true in his business of looking for faces that would project well across the footlights is just as true for women bent on being more attractive in their own sphere. A big secret, he said, is just looking alive. Nine out of 10 women, according to him, would look pretty, or register with the onlookers as being quite personable if they'd just develop the habit of looking a little peppier.

A simple little trick, like keeping the mouth corners flickering upward, does wonders for any face, pretty or plain. Smiling easily and often, and smiling with the eyes as well as the mouth, makes the ugly duckling look more like a princess.

It's all a matter of habit, he says. Smart women of the theater don't look dour at any time. It's their business to show the "all's well" look of vitality and alertness at all times. Theirs are faces they want their public to remember, and if you stop to think of it, you'll realize the faces you remember are the mobile ones. You like to watch a play of expression and, tho you might not even be conscious of it, you turn with pleasure from the frozen faced woman to the one whose face registers interest, intelligence, and humor.

If you want people to consider you attractive, don't be a sourpuss. It just bores people—and it becomes a habit that will intensify as you get older. Keep your mouth corners up, no matter what happens. You'll find that in some curious way the very habit of smiling seems to make you feel better than you would if you permitted yourself to droop.

Looking at Hollywood . . . . . By Hedda Hopper

Hollywood, Cal., Jan. 29.—William Goetz was smart, signing up Gracie Fields to play opposite Monty Wooley in "Buried Alive." Other studios offered her only a number in a musical, but Gracie, who's one of our favorite entertainers, held out, knowing she could do better. She has. And if she doesn't lead that "beard" around by the end of his nose and all but steal the picture, I'll miss my guess. . . . Gary Cooper does "Dr. Wassel" and "Saratoga Trunk" before he could ever get around to Eddie Rickenbacker's story. The star Winnie Sheehan is angling for right now to play it is Fred MacMurray. We'll be greeting "Rick" next Tuesday when he speaks at the Biltmore. . . . Billy Rose and Director Leo McCarey put their heads together while Billy was here, with the result that Leo goes back to New York, and together they'll do a play. . . . Wish his fans could see Van Heflin in uniform. No suit of clothes ever became him more.

Gracie Fields.

Why Bother?

When I heard about a prologue whipped up for the charity prémiere of Noel Coward's picture "In Which We Serve," I thought, "that's just gilding the lily, with somebody wanting a hunk of credit. It turned out to be just that, and was the poorest I've ever seen. Not only that, but Coward's picture needs no gilding. It stands alone, as a masterpiece of writing, acting, and direction. And believe me, it's something for Hollywood to shoot at. . . . Those dim minds who've been trying to make trouble for Eleanor Powell and Glenn Ford should know it's a lot of eyewash. Neither of them has had a date with anybody else in the last eight months. They're in love, and I think being sensible about it. Glenn goes into the marines' boot camp in March, which means seven weeks when he can't see Eleanor. They're very wise not to leap into matrimony when neither of them knows what's ahead.

Dorsey's Band Disbands.

You'll be sorry to hear Jimmy Dorsey's band is disbanding. Three of his top trumpet players are army bound. Hard to hang on to musicians these days. . . . Next Wednesday marks beginning of the sixth year for Kay Kyser's airshow for same sponsor. He's never missed a performance. Ezra Stone and a dozen more from "This Is the Army" visited Kay on the set yesterday. It was old home week. There, too, it was David Butler, who directed his first picture. When Tim Whelan spied Butler, Kay was in the midst of trying to play the piano. Tim turned to him and said, "What would you do in a situation like this?" Butler replied, "I'll show you!"—and did. Incidentally, they've got a find in Marilynn Maxwell, who plays opposite him. She's lovely. . . . Watching Jerry Giesler in the courtroom during the Errol Flynn trial is seeing a master at work. He won't even allow Flynn to pose for a picture when jury's present.

Well, I Swan!

Walter Wanger and Orson Welles combine forces and address the Latin-American conferences which take place at Occidental college. They'll talk about films, radio, and post-war problems. . . . Next week we'll be entertaining 22 journalists from Peru and Uruguay. . . When I asked Walter if Elmer Davis was coming out to speak at the Academy dinner, he said, "Honestly, Hedda, we haven't invited any one yet except Gov Warren and his family." . . . In chatting with Bob Benchley on the set of "The Sky's the Limit," he told me he wasn't a guest of that now famous Washington party, nor was he invited. . . . When Arthur Cameron is freed from June Knight, does it mean he'll take Pat Stillman to the altar? . . . John Beal is in the ferry command at Long Beach. . . . A note from one of the fliers at Hobbs, New Mexico, tells me Jimmy Stewart is the most popular man in the outfit, and only posed for the cover of a magazine because his commanding officer wanted it. . . . I wonder why Paramount keeps picking up Mrs. Franchot Tone's option when they give her nothing to do. . . . Estelle Taylor told me of riding home in a taxi, but when the lady driver made change, she pulled it out of a great big red velvet bag!

Another Phase Studied in Meal Habits of Child

By GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.
[Copyright: 1943: By News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

Nausea is one phase of the difficulties connected with a child's eating that we have not touched upon in the preceding columns devoted to this general subject. Yet it is one of the most distressing to parents. It may occur in very young children, or the habit [for that is practically what it becomes] may manifest itself during the early years of school life.

As we are nearing the beginning of a new half year of school, and since many little girls and boys will soon be entering upon the new life of the classroom, this is a particularly good time to look into the possible causes of nausea when a child gives no evidence of being ill. Real sickness, with inability to retain food as a symptom, is a doctor's concern, and is not what we are concerned with. What we're considering is, rather, vomiting as a somewhat dramatic and disturbing kind of behavior.

When children repeatedly cannot retain their food and yet are in perfect health the cause is often a psychological one. There are some exceptions, of course. A man I knew furnishes one example. He was proud because his children ate such huge quantities of food at meal times. He encouraged them to do so, practically stuffing them. And he told me that every once in so often they "lost" their dinner for that simple reason. This is, in a way, a mechanical result, as is also the loss of food when a child has been literally forced to eat an arbitrary quantity of food, or an item of diet for which he has a real distaste. These are the exceptions rather than the rule as causes of vomiting.

Let us begin with school children who have developed the habit at breakfast or during the day. Their parents almost always notice that on Saturdays and Sundays there is no such manifestation. Haste and nervous tension in the morning render some stomachs incapable of digestion. Apprehension, if things are sure to be unpleasant at school, may have the same result. The remedy is to keep the morning leisurely and calm. Or, if necessary, see your child's teacher and find out what is wrong there.

With the younger boys and girls nausea may have a different emotional cause. Mismanagement or family friction or "scenes" at meal time may bring it about. Or a child who feels unhappy and "dethroned" thru the advent of a new baby may find, by accident the first time it happens, that vomiting brings forth a lot of attention, and then may [quite subconsciously, remember] repeat the performance to gain the much desired notice of the family. The cure? Well, you can see what it is when you realize the cause.

THE STAGE . . . . By Cecil Smith

Burton Holmes, the dean and best beloved of travel lecturers, celebrates his 50th consecutive season this year. His golden jubilee series of travelogs will be presented in Orchestra hall beginning Feb. 17. There will be three separate courses of five lectures each on five successive Wednesday evenings, Friday evenings, and Saturday afternoons.

Three of the lectures are composed entirely of new color moving pictures taken in the United States. The other two travelogs deal with timely subjects in Africa and Europe. The schedule is as follows:

Feb. 17, 19, and 20.....
"Charm Centers of the Old South"
Feb. 24, 26, and 27.....
...."Our Fronts in North Africa"
March 3, 5, and 6."New England—Cradle of Our Liberties"
March 10, 12, and 13.....
....."Our Russian Allies"
March 17, 19, and 20.."Motoring to Glorious Glacier Park"

The Shuberts have changed their minds and will keep "The Student Prince" at the Selwyn theater for four weeks, instead of two, after it opens Feb. 7. "Blossom Time" has been dropped from the schedule.

Two matinées a week are being added to the schedule of "Maid in the Ozarks" at the Great Northern theater. The first Sunday and Wednesday matinées will be given this coming week. The usual Saturday matinées will be continued.

"Watch on the Rhine" closes at the Selwyn tonight. The theater will be dark until the arrival of "The Student Prince."

Renaissance to Hold Its Benefit Party on Monday

With Mrs. Wallis R. Raw presiding, The Renaissance will hold its annual benefit card party and tea for members and guests at 1:30 o'clock on Monday in the Wedgewood room at Marshall Field's. Proceeds will be divided between the Red Cross and a fine arts student fund. Mrs. Charles A. Fink heads the arrangements committee. There will be a spring fashion show.

Alluring Exhibit Ties Together Music and Art

BY ELEANOR JEWETT.

A little gallery hung with six superb paintings by Frederic Tellander has been arranged at Lyon & Healy, where the second floor is now devoted to music and art under the auspices of Art Movement, Inc. There is a diversified showing of oil paintings on that floor and a number of the pictures are most attractive. Back of the exhibit is the idea that music and art are closely related and people interested in the one will find themselves interested in the other, if it is presented to them.

The idea is bearing fruit. A visitor to the gallery a week or so ago bought a painting and has returned for a second. Meanwhile the public is really offered an unusual treat.

Mr. Tellander is showing three stunning marines, two dramatic landscapes, one of Vermont in winter being particularly fine, and a beautiful, nostalgic view of Paris, "Le Pont Neuf."

One of the most popular artists exhibiting at Lyon & Healy is Charles Vickery. A painting of his rarely hangs two days without being snapped up. His "Marine," a gorgeous expanse of waves, sun, and rocks, the water magnificently handled, seemed to us the outstanding canvas in the show. John Sloan has a cheerful cherub seated on a brown hill, "Top of the World," that is appealing. Macena Barton shows two exquisite little still lifes and a strong larger picture, "Bread." "The Glass Plate," by Esther Austin, has decorative quality, and "Rural Road," by J. Vincent Mason, is very fine.

The Swedish American Art exhibit, an annual affair, opens today in the club woman's bureau at Mandel Brothers. Thirty-two artists from Chicago and vicinity are included in the show.

Mu Phi Epsilon to Give Musical and Tea Party

In celebration of its 20th anniversary, Mu Xi chapter of Mu Phi Epsilon, national music honor society, will give a musical and tea at 4:30 o'clock today in the Cordon club, Fine Arts building. Members and friends attending will be admitted by the purchase of a war savings stamp of any denomination at the door. The program will be given by Catherine Sauer Smith and Margaret Lagerquist, pianists; Merrie Metchell Maier, soprano; Ethel Heide Wishauer, contralto, and Lucille Turner, violinist.

Music Note

Because Yehudi Menuhin is ill and unable to keep his engagement to appear as soloist with Dimitri Mitropoulos and the Minneapolis Symphony orchestra at the Civic Opera house tomorrow afternoon, the Allied Arts corporation, sponsoring the concert, announces Joseph Szigeti, distinguished Hungarian violinist, as substitute. Mr. Szigeti will play the Brahms concerto in D major, instead of the Dvorak concerto scheduled by Mr. Menuhin. The program, on the History and Enjoyment of Music series, also includes Gluck's overture to "Alceste" and Brahm's First symphony.

Crocheted Bolero

BY ELLEN BRUCE.

This delightful crocheted bolero is worked in the attractive loop stitch. It is most effective worn with a separate skirt and blouse for sports, or crocheted in a vivid color and worn over a dark one piece dress.

For instructions in crocheting the bolero, No. 2023, send 10 cents in stamps or coin, plus 2 cents to cover mailing cost, to the Needlework Bureau, Chicago Tribune, 220 Fifth avenue, New York City.

White Collar GIRL

BY RUTH MACKAY.

Birds of a Feather.

With the increasing demand upon the time of the busy person, many have queried whether membership in a business women's organization brings sufficient rewards for the extra hours and the extra money involved. This question was asked: "Do you, from your own experience, advise young workers to affiliate themselves with some sort of business club?"

Of the 10 women queried, all said "Yes." Several said, "By all means." Three answered, "Yes, but choose the group carefully." One said, "Yes, but don't join the first club which approaches you. Take your time and look them over." Another said, "If only to keep a proper perspective on your job, associate yourself with other ambitious women in your own field."

Is there an economic advantage, I asked? Not particularly, the woman thought. After all, when it comes to getting a job, most persons have to hunt it down for themselves. Once in a great while a position does develop from such contacts, but rarely. The chief value lies in "keeping an open mind" . . . "keeping you from stagnating" . . . "helping you in your adjustments to other people" . . . "holding a constant example before your eyes of the accomplishments of others" . . . "teaching you to coöperate instead of compete with your co-workers" . . . "providing you with lasting friendship and encouragement" . . . "giving you the opportunity to learn from others" . . . "offering you a chance to swap stories and hold on to your sense of humor."

So, if we can take the word of these women, "Be a joiner."

Another Ghost Hostess.

A note in the mail from the mother of a family who turned her homemaking talents to practical use. Married almost 25 years, this woman who says "it was never an effort to prepare a meal for six or eight extra persons when they dropped in" went into the business of serving fine food. The result: A son with a University of Chicago diploma and a daughter sent to Lawrence college, now a student at the Goodman theater.

Appreciation.

A Chicago white collar girl, Lauraine Radtke, received a letter of thanks last week which brought her deep satisfaction.

From the Hon. W. Moloney, head of the American center in Sydney, Australia, it read: "Your generous action in forwarding copies of newspapers and magazines to the American center has brought many hours of pleasure and relaxation to American fighting men who are in this part of the world. I can assure you that every paper, book, and magazine is read thoroly from front to back and then goes the rounds of as many camps or ships as it is possible to make. National security regulations prevent my giving you actual names of the numerous service men who have asked me to thank you for your generosity, but you can rest assured that the news from home is always a red letter day in their lives here. Very sincerely and truly yours . . ."

Good Morning!

"Random Harvest" is one of the sweetest love stories ever told.

Silly to compare it to "Mrs. Miniver," as is being so persistently done. Pearls and porterhouse steak are both richly satisfying—but you don't say that one is better—or not so good as the other. . . . "Mrs. Miniver" is great. "Random Harvest" is great. . . . They're not alike, even tho Greer Garson stars in both productions.

Much of the latter's charm and holding power are due to the richly sympathetic acting which polishes off any transitory disappointment readers of Mr. Hilton's book may have as to the ability of the producers to achieve the novel's surprise ending. . . . The picture COULDN'T have that—as you'll agree. . . . In other essentials it follows the original story, and such changes as have been made in no way muddy its deep, swiftly running stream.

Under Mervyn Le Roy's superlatively intuitive direction unfolds the tale of the shell shocked English soldier with whom happiness plays hide and seek thru the medium of amnesia.

As the picture opens the time is 1918 and Smithy, during excitement raging due to whistles announcing the armistice, walks out of the Melbridge asylum, where he has been confined since the discovery that he remembered nothing of his past—and wanders into a tobacco shop to buy cigarets. . . . His strange, bewildered manner and dress give him away and the proprietress runs to notify the asylum authorities. . . . When she returns—he is gone. . . . Paula, show girl with a traveling company, has watched the scene with pitiful eyes—and has decided to take the helpless stranger under her wing. . . . She maneuvers him to the country and under her ministrations he gradually returns to normal—except for the fact that the past still lurks behind a closed door. . . .

The two grow to love each other devotedly. . . . They are married, have a child, and Smithy wins some attention as a writer. . . . Then, thru a street accident, the door which had been closed opens—but another shuts. . . . Smithy now recognizes himself as Charles Rainier, member of a wealthy English industrial family. . . . And Charles Rainier has no knowledge of Smithy, Paula, or the life they had been living so happily. . . .

The rest of the story could be titled: "How Paula Finally Got Her Man." And WHAT a story it is!

To me Greer Garson is the first lady of the screen. She really DOES have everything. Mr. Colman as Smithy-Charles Rainier is, as always, most good things rolled into one. . . . Newcomers to the screen should sit at the feet of these two and learn. Very splendid contributory acting is provided by a cannily chosen cast. Outstanding are Philip Dorn, Susan Peters, and Reginald Owen.

From all technical standpoints "Random Harvest" is a thing of beauty and a joy forever.

See you tomorrow.

CHAPTER TEN.
POSSIBLE MOTIVE.

Miss Silver and Randal March came up the stairs and turned into the corridor.

"In the rooms on the right," said Miss Silver, "are, first, Laura Fane, then Miss North, with a bathroom between. Then Miss Lyle, another bathroom, and the octagon room which, as you see, juts out into the corridor.

"On the left there is first a bathroom. Then Lucy Adams, another bathroom, a small room occupied by Perry, and Agnes Fane's room, which is much larger than any of the others. Of all the people in the house she is most likely to have heard the shot, since her room has two windows look ng that way. It is, in fact, barely possible that she did not hear it, whereas Lucy is unlikely to have done so.

"There are three rooms between hers and the side of the house and she would not dream of having a window open at night at this time of the year. But if you wish me to ask her whether she heard anything, I will do so."

"If you don't mind."

Miss Silver tapped at the door and, receiving no articulate reply, opened it and went in, leaving it ajar behind her. She found herself in a confusing pink dusk, the curtains being completely drawn across both windows. As she advanced toward where she knew the bed to be a voice came to her choked with sobs.

"Who is it? I can't see any one—I can't!"

Her eyes adjusting themselves to the semi-darkness, Miss Silver made out the bed and, prostrate upon it, Miss Adams, her face half buried in the pillows. She said in a kind, firm voice:

"I am not come to disturb you, my dear Lucy. I am sure you know how much I feel for you in your grief. The superintendent has deputed me to ask you a question. He had no wish to intrude upon you, but it is his duty to find out whether there is anybody in the house who heard the shot. Perhaps you will just tell me whether you did hear anything."

Miss Adams sobbed into the pillow. A hand was laid gently but firmly upon her shoulder.

"Come, Lucy, you have only to say yes or no. Did you hear anything?"

The head turned. The eyes blinked against tears. The weak voice said:

"Not a shot—how could I—the windows were shut—I didn't hear any shot——"

Something in the faint, wavering emphasis upon the twice repeated word made Miss Silver say quickly:

"You didn't hear the shot? Did you hear anything else?"

As soon as the words were said they seemed absurd, for what else was there to hear?

Lucy Adams became still and rigid under her hand. Then she pushed the hand away with violence.

"I can't talk about it—I can't! You mustn't ask me! I can't tell you—I can't tell any one!"

Miss Silver came out of the room and shut the door behind her.

"You heard what she said, Randal?"

"Yes — not shot — but something else. It seems to have had a very upsetting effect. I wonder what it was."

Miss Silver said without any noticeable expression:

"She is greatly upset. It has been a severe shock. But she will be better tomorrow. You can question her then."

Randal March found himself a good deal impressed by Miss Agnes Fane. She was sitting in a large armchair beside her bedroom fire. The curtains were drawn back and the light came in. There was none of the disorder or dishevelment of grief. She sat upright and composed, her hair in its accustomed waves, a string of pearls relieving the plain black of her dress.

He received a slight inclination of the head and a request that he would be seated. She understood that he desired to see her, but she was afraid that she could do very little to assist the course of justice. Her voice was deep and strong. She spoke with authority and condescension.

He put his question and received his answer.

"No—I heard nothing."

His eyes went to the two south windows, one on each side of the bed. They came back to her expressionless face.

"You are a sound sleeper, Miss Fane?"

There was a faint flicker of a smile.

"A very poor one, I am afraid. So poor that I am sometimes obliged to take a sleeping draught. I did so last night. I am an invalid, you know."

She might have been claiming some prerogative. He felt a slight unwilling amusement. Pride, yes—but pride in her own disablity? He thought Agnes Fane had been made for better things than that.

He rose to go, but she detained him with a lift of that rigid hand. The diamond flashed.

"Has he been arrested?"

"There has been no arrest as yet. May I ask whose arrest you were expecting?"

A sparklike contempt came into her eyes. He found it galling.

"Whose arrest? Why, the murderer's. Has no one told you that Jeffery Hazelton would have shot my niece on Wednesday night if she had not saved herself by her own courage and presence of mind? He is, of course, not responsible for his actions and should have been placed under restraint. I am much to blame for not having insisted on it."

"You think Mr. Hazelton returned here last night, and that it was he who shot Miss Lyle?"

"I should say it was obvious."

He said a little stiffly:

"Mr. Hazelton has naturally not been overlooked. He will have to give an account of his movements after leaving here. I am expecting a call at any time now. You may be quite sure that everything is being done, Miss Fane. But the surgeon's report and that of the ballistic expert will have to be taken into consideration."

She regarded him for the first time with interest.

"If the bullet had been fired from the pistol which was taken from Jeffrey Hazelton on Wednesday night, the expert would be able to prove it. That is what you mean?"

"Yes. A bullet is marked by the rifling. No two firearms would mark a bullet in quite the same way."

Her face changed.

"That proves nothing in this case. He may have shot her with that pistol or with another one. It proves nothing. He had another."

"Yes, I remember—Desborough mentioned that in his statement. Miss Lyle said so—didn't she?"

"Yes." Her hand clenched on the arm of the chair. Before he could speak she said in an insistent voice, "Mr. Desborough was engaged to my niece. Did he mention that in his statement?"

If Randal March was surprised he contrived not to show it. It had certainly not occurred to him to regard Carey Desborough in the light of a bereaved lover. In their short interview he had displayed the gravity and concern of a friend, but nothing more.

He said, after what he hoped was not a noticeable pause, "No, he didn't mention that. Was there an engagement?"

"Yes. They had had an understanding for some time. The engagement would have been announced shortly."

After a moment he said, "Why do you tell me this, Miss Fane? Are you suggesting jealousy as a motive for the crime? Was Mr. Hazelton known to be jealous?"

She said, "I don't know," and then, "My niece obtained her divorce for infidelity. Mr. Hazelton had no rights where she was concerned."

Well, he had obviously had feelings. There was no more to be said. He took his leave.

As he passed the maid Perry's door, it opened and she came out. Her pale eyes dwelt on him with a flicker of something which he thought was dislike. She said in her acid voice:

"I'd like to have a word with you if it's convenient."

Dear Diary BY BECKY

According to Culbertson

[Copyright: 1943: By Ely Culbertson.]

Many years ago the lead of a singleton [or a doubleton] was derided by most experts, who claimed that such leads always gave the declarer a free finesse in the suit and also greater control of the hand as a whole. In the last 10 years this theory has been largely exploded, and short suit leads have come into favor. Perhaps too great favor! The fact of the matter is that singleton and doubleton leads are neither the "untouchables" that oldtime players considered them, nor the "open sesames" which many players have come to consider them. Like every other lead or play in bridge, they can be either excellent or bad, depending on circumstances. One thing is certain, however, and that is that the lead of a singleton often distorts, for better or worse, the subsequent play. Note the curious effect this lead had in the following hand:

North, dealer.
Neither side vulnerable.
Match-point duplicate.

NORTH
♠ A 10 7 5 3 2
♥ Q 9 8 4 3
♦ Q 7
♣ None

WEST
♠ 8 6
♥ J
♦ J 8 6 5
♣ Q J 10 4 3 2

EAST
♠ K
♥ 10 7 6 5
♦ A K 10 4 3 2
♣ A 9

SOUTH
♠ Q J 9 4
♥ A K 2
♦ 9
♣ K 8 7 6 5

The bidding:

North	East	South	West
Pass	1 diamond	1 spade	2 diamonds
3 diamonds	Pass	4 clubs	Double
4 spades	5 diamonds	Pass	Pass
5 spades	Pass	Pass	Pass

North's diamond cue bid was, of course "phoney," the idea being to discourage a diamond lead at any eventual spade contract.

West opened his singleton heart, not that he believed the alleged diamond cue bid, and this lead had far-reaching results. Declarer felt certain that it was a singleton and, therefore, dared not take his normal trump finesse. He played the queen and, when West did not cover, went up with dummy's ace, dropping the singleton king. The spade ten then drew West's remaining trump. Now declarer went out for an absolute "top." He led dummy's heart nine and, when East followed low, gambled on his own judgment to the extent of letting the nine ride. It held, and the opponents never took another trick, since dummy's heart suit now was solid and, after discarding one diamond, declarer had two trumps left with which to ruff dummy's two diamonds.

BOARD OF REVIEW SUGGESTED FOR BIG 10 FOOTBALL DECISIONS

Aigler of Michigan Cites Big League Procedure.

Ann Arbor, Mich., Jan. 29 [Special].—Whether the Western conference should establish machinery for the review of questioned decisions by football officials when those decisions are based on possible misapplication of the rules was opened for debate today by Prof. Ralph W. Aigler, secretary of Michigan's board in control of intercollegiate athletics and the university's Big Ten faculty representative.

Prof. R. W. Aigler.

Altho he avoided giving his personal conclusions, Aigler pointed out in his annual report to the board of regents that this type of decision is reviewable in professional baseball and commented:

"Recently there have been frequent expressions of the desirability for setting up some sort of machinery for review of that type of decision in the case of college games."

Mistakes Are Inevitable.

Declaring that it seems the general opinion that the work of officials during the football season of 1942 "gave even less satisfaction than usual," Aigler added that "no one in his right senses should expect that officials would never make mistakes. The most one can ask for is that the men be thoroly trained and conversant with the applicable rules, be physically able to see as much as possible of what is going on, and be fearless and honest in applying the rules to the facts."

Aigler also opened for discussion the subject of conference championships, altho here again he avoided personal conclusions. The report said that only in baseball and basketball is the term "champion" reflected accurately by the won and lost percentage table.

"In football," said Aigler, "the whole percentage business may be reduced to an absurdity by imagining one team having three conference games and winning them all while another that plays seven games wins all but one."

Michigan to Carry On.

The Aigler report also touched upon numerous activities of the Michigan athletic department of the last year and he emphasized that the board has decided to carry on with its program.

He said decisions regarding the 1943-'44 year will be delayed until factors made uncertain by the war perhaps appear in a clearer light and said the conference has postponed action on proposals that the freshman rule be dropped for the same reason.

"Exigencies of war conditions may warrant a temporary suspension or modification of that very salutary rule," Aigler declared, "but it was felt at the annual meeting in December that as yet no compelling emergency had developed. Only a very bold or foolish person would venture to declare what the situation will be six months, or even one month, from now."

In a financial review of the 1941-'42 fiscal year, Aigler said that Michigan's athletic receipts exceeded disbursements by $101,148.27. Receipts for the period, with 70 per cent coming from the 1941 football season, totaled $473,094.32.

NEW YORK CLUB ALSO GIVES UP ROOKIE CANDINI

Champions Continue Remodeling.

New York, Jan. 29 (AP).—Continuing the remodeling of their club, the New York Yankees announced tonight that they had traded Infielder Gerry Priddy and Milo Candini, rookie pitcher, to the Washington Senators for Pitcher Bill Zuber and an undisclosed sum.

Gerald Priddy.

Bill Zuber.

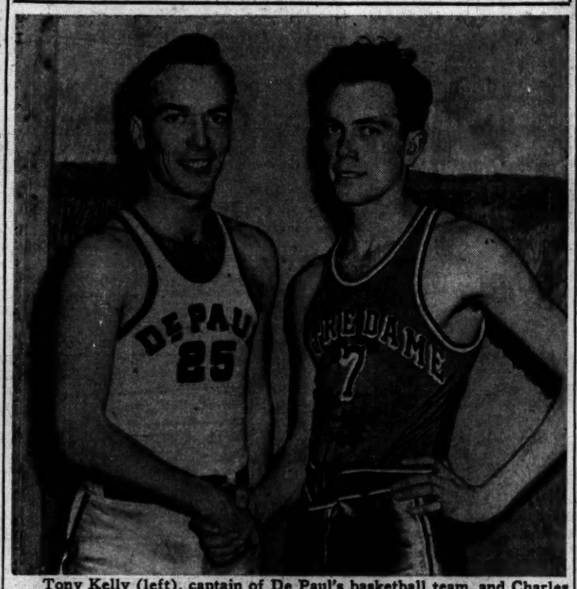
Priddy, 22 year old handyman for two seasons with the Yankees, played 11 games at first base, 8 at second, 35 at third, and 3 at shortstop last year and batted .280. Originally he came to the Yankees as a second baseman, teaming up with Phil Rizzuto as a flashy second base combination out of Kansas City. However, Priddy never was able to rate a regular berth.

Candini Is Husky.

Candini is a husky right hander, 25 years old, who was with Newark in the International league last year, appearing in 29 games, winning 7 and losing 9.

Zuber also is a right hander, 28 years old, who came up with Cleveland in 1936 and compiled an indifferent record before being sold to the Senators in 1941. Last year he won 9 and lost 9 while appearing in 37 games. He had an earned run average of 3.83.

Old Teammates Meet as Rivals



Tony Kelly (left), captain of De Paul's basketball team, and Charles Butler, captain of Notre Dame's quintet, who will meet as opponents in the one of the games of tonight's double header in the Stadium. In high school they were teammates at Mount Carmel. [TRIBUNE Photo.]

NOTRE DAME AND DE PAUL FIVES CLASH TONIGHT

BY WILFRID SMITH.

The central states have more top-flight basketball teams than all other sections of the country combined, but Notre Dame or De Paul will drop a notch in midwestern ratings after their game tonight in Chicago Stadium. This contest at 8:15 o'clock will open the double header program which also matches Marquette and Bradley Tech, and a record crowd for the Stadium season is anticipated.

Each of tonight's headliners has been defeated once. De Paul has 13 victories and Notre Dame, with a hiatus of three weeks in its campaign, has won seven games. The contest is a sports natural for Chicago, which contributes largely to the Irish basketball squad, and has a 100 per cent representation on the Demon five. Then, too, the rival captains, Charles Butler of Notre Dame, and Tony Kelly of De Paul, were high school teammates at Mount Carmel.

Indiana Battles Purdue.

The Stadium feature shares interest with Indiana's defense of its perfect Big Ten record tonight in Bloomington against Purdue. The Hoosiers are tied with Illinois for the conference lead, while Purdue has won three of its five Big Ten engagements.

Altho the Boilermakers hold a 52 to 15 advantage in the all-time series, Indiana, under Coach Branch McCracken, has won five of the last seven games, and never has been defeated by Purdue on the Indiana floor.

Badgers Meet Gophers.

Wisconsin, which has suffered two conference defeats, but still hopes to tie for the title, will meet Minnesota in Madison in the only other Big Ten contest on tonight's card. Two Badgers—Walt Lautenbach, guard, and Ed Downs, substitute forward—have the flu and may be unable to play.

Pep Decisively Whips Stolz Before 19,088

New York, Jan. 29 (AP).—The longest winning streak in modern ring history was run up to 59 straight victories tonight as Willie Pep, a wild little puncher from Connecticut, smashed out a 10 round decision over Allie Stolz in Madison Square Garden. Pep weighed 127¾ pounds and Stolz 133½.

Before the largest crowd to see a fight in the Garden this year—and one of the largest turnouts in the last three years—the New York commission's featherweight champion from Hartford continued along the unbeaten trail in his two and one-half year professional career by winning going away from a ranking lightweight.

Pep floored Stolz for a two count in the second round with a left hook, and opened a small cut over Allie's left eye in the eighth session. He upset the betting boys who had installed the Newark stylist a 5 to 6 favorite just before ring time.

Except for the third and fourth rounds, when Stolz's body punching slowed him down temporarily, and the eighth, when Allie cut Willie's left eye and staggered him momentarily, the New Englander was out in front all the way.

Jamming every seat in the Garden, the turnout of 19,088—many of them strong rooters from Connecticut—contributed to a gross gate of $65,989. Between bouts, a war bond auction was put on from the ring and grossed $173,600.

QUEEN OF ANGELS WINS OPENER IN BASKET TOURNEY

The Queen of Angels grammar school, defending Queen of Angels Catholic grammar school basketball champion, won its first game in the fifth annual tournament in defense of its crown by defeating St. Viator's, 28 to 11, last night in the parish Guild hall, 4412 North Western avenue. The teams are competing for the Rev. John J. Doody Memorial trophy which Queen of Angels captured last year. Other results:

St. Hilary, 30; St. Gertrude, 17.
St. Benedict "B," 14; St. Matthias, 13.
St. Priscilla, 27; St. Bartholomew, 11.
St. Benedict "A," 15; St. Ita's, 10.

Fight Decisions

LAST NIGHT'S RESULTS.

At New York—Willie Pep beat Allie Stolz [10]; George Doty knocked out Morris Reif [4]; Victor Resto beat José Rozo [6]; Ossie Rodriguez beat Ralph McNeill [6].
At Boston, Mass. — Frankie MacDougall stopped Davey Andrews [4].

Divers to Vie for National Title Tonight

One National and five Central A. A. U. swimming championships will be decided tonight in the Medinah club of Chicago pool. The national event will be the junior high board diving. Central title competition will be held in the men's senior 100 yard free style, the women's senior 100 yard back stroke, 400 yard medley relay and individual medley and the women's junior 100 yard breast stroke.

Dorothy Ziegler of the Medinah club will be one of the strongest contenders for the one national title which will be at stake. She holds the central women's senior low board championship. Among her rivals will be Zoe Ann Olsen, midwest champion from La Porte City, Ia., and Mary Widdell from Cleveland.

Ris to Defend Title.

Walter Ris, a University of Illinois freshman, will defend his C. A. A. U. title in the men's senior 100 yard free style. Another Illinois freshman, Herb Seiwert, also will compete. William Baugher of the University of Chicago and Dick Wartena of the Medinah club will be among the dangerous contenders. Wartena holds the Central A. A. U. championship in the 100 and 200 meter free style.

Alice Miller will defend her titles in the women's senior individual medley and in the back stroke. Bobbie Bankratz of the Medinah club is expected to make a strong bid for Miss Miller's back stroke championship. She twice has broken the record in recent practice sprints. She placed fourth in the national senior event last year.

Medinah Meets Lake Shore.

Among Miss Miller's rivals in the individual medley event will be Lois Menzel and Edith Miller of Medinah and Frankie Rose. Miss Menzel won the national junior title two years ago.

The relay event will bring together teams from Medinah and the Lake Shore Athletic club. The Medinah swimmers are coached by Walter J. Schlueter and Norma Short.

MISSOURI ROUTED BY GREAT LAKES IN 92 TO 45 GAME

Kansas City, Mo., Jan. 29 (AP).—The Great Lakes basketball team won its ninth straight victory tonight by burying Missouri, 92 to 45, in the second game of a double header. In the first game Kansas defeated the Olathe, Kas., naval air base, 47 to 36.

GOLDEN GLOVES BOUTS WAGED IN THREE CENTERS

Chicago Boys Get Final Physical Exams.

While Chicago's Golden Gloves candidates were reporting for the final physical examinations last night before the opening of the sectional tournament Monday on the south side, three centers were holding eliminations. Bouts were held in Milwaukee, Evansville, Ind., and Cleveland preparatory to selecting the championship teams to compete in the Tournament of Champions in the Stadium Feb. 22, 23, and 24.

The Cleveland Plain Dealer tournament opened Thursday night with 116 bouts. Second and third round matches were held last night. The Evansville Courier also started its Golden Gloves tournament Thursday night and continued last night. Evansville's champions will be crowned Feb. 12.

Milwaukee Bouts Continue.

The Milwaukee Journal tournament also was in the second night of fighting last evening in the Auditorium. The champions of the Badger state will be determined Feb. 12 with semi-finals on Feb. 9.

Chicago's south side trials will be held Monday and Tuesday in the St. Sabina gymnasium, 78th street and Racine avenue. Eight novices and eight open division fighters will receive gold medals for sectional titles. The north side tournament will be held Wednesday, Thursday, and Friday in the Loyola university gymnasium. Sixteen boys—eight novices and eight experienced fighters—will win gold medals Friday night.

City Finals Feb. 11.

These 32 champions, in their respective divisions and weights, will fight for city titles Feb. 11 in the Armory, 16th street and Michigan avenue. The eight open division winners will represent Chicago in the Tournament of Champions. Reserved seats for the city championship are $1.65 and $1.10 and may be ordered by mail from the Golden Gloves Ticket Manager, Tribune Tower.

Nine representatives of the Ringside loop gymnasium passed medical requirements last night. The tenth, Lou Michaels, 37 year old stationary engineer, was rejected because of a heart murmur. Those who qualified for the sectional trials were Stanley Berg, 126 pounds; Tom Hansen, 147; William Johnson, 160, and King Milage, 175, in the open class, and Irving Cagen, heavyweight; Robert Dutten, 160; Elmore Dockery and Barry Wilson, 147, and Harry Franklin, 126, novices.

Madison A. C. Entries Pass.

Another club represented at last night's tests was the Madison A. C. Among those to pass by Dr. Edward Rategan and Dr. William Rothman were John Boyd, bantamweight of 2710 Van Buren street, and Paul Martin, Elmhurst college middleweight, novices. Martin, a resident of Oak Park and 20 years old, has been ordered to report for duty in the naval air corps in June.

Two coast guardsmen stationed at the anchorage office on Navy pier also went by the physicians with flying colors. Both Chicagoans, they are Robert Gorman, novice welterweight, and Eddie Miller, novice flyweight.

Honor Roll.

Inside the door of our old stone church
They have set up an honor roll,
And the names of the parish boys who have gone
Are emblazoned on this scroll;
A few short months ago it bore
Scarce a dozen names or so,
And now each time I glance at it,
It seems to burgeon and grow.

"James T. Murphy"—"Sunny Jim"
From the corner grocery store,
With a jest and quip on his boyish lip
For all who came thru the door;
There's a star in front of another name—
"William J. Shaughnessy"—
Why I knew Bill from a shaver up
Just two pews ahead of me.

And in front of this parish honor roll
Burns a tiny point of flame,
A living symbol of hope and love
For every cherished name.
Tho they're scattered over the seven seas,
I'd like them to know off there
That no one comes thru the old church door
Without pausing to send them a prayer.
—Jazbo of Old Dubuque.

Lone Wolf.

He seemed aloof and his head was high
As he swung thru the station door,
And he watched the others, filing past,
With two or three friends or more.
But I'm sure he felt the same sharp pang
That once had been my own,
And my heart went out to that lanky kid
Who came to the train alone.
—Baron.

SOX BACK TO FIRST LOT

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

The White Sox, after making one spring camp choice and then deciding they might do better for themselves by moving to a spot graced by what once was a board fence, have concluded to stick by their original choice.

The first pick, made several weeks ago by an expedition of scouts to French Lick, Ind., is a grassy spot about a quarter of a mile from the French Lick Springs hotel, which will serve as headquarters for the Cubs as well as the Sox. Subsequently the Sox figured they might feel more at home in the one time ball park, located a mile away, but Harry Grabiner, vice president, announced yesterday that the scheme had been abandoned upon advice of Bobby Dorr, Wrigley field superintendent, who now is on the scene with a diamond building gang of workmen.

The Cubs' practice field is being laid out on a parcel of the golf course, just outside the hotel door. The open space on which the Sox infield is being prepared was formerly devoted to the training of the Tom Taggart thorobreds.

Both the Cubs and Sox, following Washington's ruling on the wage freeze law in connection with baseball, started to busy themselves yesterday on the important matter of what kind of figures, preceded by the dollar sign, are to be placed on the various player contracts. The documents probably will not be ready for mailing until early next week.

Neither local club has come to a decision as to what date the athletes should assemble for the wartime spring grind. The Sox are figuring on a date between March 19 and 23, altho this might be moved up because of early exhibitions.

The American league service roster jumped to 128 yesterday, the last addition being First Baseman Steve Souchock, a rookie brought in from the Binghamton, N. Y., club by the Yanks.

SHAUGHNESSY, AT PITT, DISCUSSES COACHING STAFF

Pittsburgh, Pa., Jan. 29 (AP).—Clark D. Shaughnessy, new football coach at the University of Pittsburgh, talked over the matter of assistant coaches with Director of Athletics James Hagan today preparatory to assuming his new duties with the Panthers. Shaughnessy's resignation at Maryland, announced Monday, becomes effective Monday. He succeeds Charley Bowser at Pitt.

Pressed for details about his plans for assistants, the coach said: "We hope to clear up that problem within a short time. There is a chance that my helpers may come from the Chicago Bears professional team."

He did not comment upon a report Walter Halas, his assistant at Maryland last year, would come here with him. Walter is a brother of Lt. Comm. George Halas, owner of the Bears.

In Chicago, Halas said he expected to talk with Shaughnessy there on Sunday. He expressed surprise at the report he might be asked to take the assistant's job.

STOCKS SWEEP HIGHER; VOLUME YEAR'S LARGEST

Many Favorites Set 1942-'43 Peaks.

New York, Jan. 29 (AP).—Industrials took over the forward drive in the stock market today and, on the largest volume since late December, many favorites established new highs for more than a year.

Fractional advances predominated at the start. Steels, aircrafts, and numerous other leaders were then bid up briskly. Gains ran to 2 or more points. These were retained in most cases at the close, altho peak prices were trimmed here and there. The majority of the recently buoyant rails and utilities did virtually nothing.

Continuance of the upswing for pivotals was ascribed principally to the persistent war optimism, a larger investment appetite, and further thoughts on inflation.

Stock Average Gains.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks ended with a net advance of .3 of a point to 43.9, highest since Sept. 18, 1941. It also was the broadest market since Dec. 31 with 909 individual issues traded.

United States Steel closed 2¼ points higher and lesser advances were held by Bethlehem, Youngstown Sheet, Crucible Steel, General Motors, Montgomery Ward, International Harvester, Caterpillar Tractor, Douglas Aircraft, Boeing, Glenn Martin, United Aircraft, Kennecott, Dow Chemical, Postal Telegraph preferred, Western Union, Liggett & Meyers B, and American Smelting.

American Telephone slipped, along with Consolidated Edison, Public Service of New Jersey, Santa Fe, Sears-Roebuck, American Can, General Electric, United States Gypsum, and Owens-Illinois.

CHICAGO LIST STRONG.

Chicago Stock exchange prices advanced yesterday and 26 issues reached new 1942-'43 highs in turnover of 51,000 shares.

Chicago corporation led in volume and advanced ⅛ to 2⅜. Four heavily traded stocks to reach peaks were Libby, McNeill & Libby, at 6⅛, closing at 6, up ¼; Central Illinois Securities, at 5/16, up ⅛; RCA, at 6⅛, up ⅛, and Commonwealth Edison, at 24⅞, closing at 24¾, up ⅛.

In the final half hour Armour, Borg-Warner, Deere & Co., and Swift were up ⅛, and Interlake Iron, Texas company, and Yellow Truck and Coach were off ⅛ from the New York close.

BONDS SELL HIGHER.

New York, Jan. 29 (AP).—Bond prices strengthened all along the line today under leadership of rails and investment issues.

Profit taking appeared on the rise, especially when new highs for the last year or longer were reached, but gains of small fractions to around a point were plentiful at the close.

Railroad issues were aided by more 1942 earnings reports, most of which were in line with the big increases over 1941 indicated in earlier estimates.

United States government loans were firm.

DETROIT STRIKE OVER TWO MAN LAYOFF ENDED

Detroit, Mich., Jan. 29 (AP)—A two hour strike involving 2,000 employés of the Dodge truck plant of Chrysler corporation ended late this afternoon when officials of the CIO-United Automobile Workers ordered the strikers back to work and moved to discipline those responsible for the walkout.

A company spokesman said 300 employés in the trim shop walked out because the company would not rescind its disciplinary two day layoff of three men who left their jobs early to go to lunch.

Leo Lamotte, Chrysler CIO-UAW director, said: "I intend to find the guilty parties and to discipline them."

Haits Wire Production.

Dixon, Ill., Jan. 29 [Special].—A walkout at the two Reynolds Wire company plants virtually stopped production today. The company is doing almost 100 per cent war work. About 90 per cent of the employés participated in the walkout called yesterday.

Expect WLB Conciliator.

Harrisburg, Ill., Jan. 29 (AP).—Joseph Vincent, a conciliator from the war labor board, is expected here Saturday for an arbitration conference over a strike of 288 employés of the Wasson Coal company's No. 1 mine.

RETAIL VOLUME IS HELD BELOW YEAR AGO LEVEL

New York, Jan. 29 (AP).—Retail trade this week continued below a year ago as many merchants started displaying spring merchandise to build up volume totals cut by the lack of durable goods and reduced winter stocks, Dun & Bradstreet, Inc., reported today. Some improvement was noted in sections which had been particularly affected by bad weather last week.

Investment buying was reported increasing in women's ready-to-wear, shoe, specialty, food, and drug lines, but volume was below that of a year ago.

Country-wide retail sales were estimated at 3 to 7 per cent below a year ago.

MOVE TO RETURN SHIPS TO LAKES AFTER WAR URGED

Between 75 and 100 ships are believed to have been taken off the Great Lakes since 1940, H. C. Brockel, Milwaukee port director, said yesterday at a meeting of the Great Lakes Harbors association at the Hotel La Salle. Brockel, who is secretary of the association, urged that action be started now to bring the ships back to the lakes as soon as the war ends.

D. W. Hoan, former mayor of Milwaukee, and other speakers supported construction of the St. Lawrence waterway and opposed diversion of water from Lake Michigan beyond the 1,500 cubic feet per second now authorized.

Taylor Named Director of ODT Waterway Division

Washington, D. C., Jan. 29 (AP).—Glen E. Taylor today was named director of the office of defense transportation's division of inland waterways. Taylor, with ODT since last February, succeeds Edward Clemens of St. Louis, who resigned to devote full time to his position of vice president of the Mississippi Valley Barge Line.

Soap Firm's Profit Sharing Plan Pays Million in Year

Cincinnati, O., Jan. 29 (AP).—Procter & Gamble company employés received $1,118,631 under the company profit sharing plan in 1942, President R. R. Deupree announced today.

OPA SETS MAXIMUM PROFIT MARGINS FOR MAKERS OF CLOTHING

Washington, D. C., Jan. 29 (AP).—OPA today fixed maximum profit margins of 27 to 36 per cent over direct material and labor costs for newly established manufacturers of women's, children's and girls' coats and dresses and outerwear.

The margins apply to producers not in business during March, 1942, and OPA served notice that when other manufacturers seek approval of ceiling prices they need not expect bigger margins.

"In fact," said OPA, "in many instances the actual margins authorized may prove to be lower than these maximums whenever it is determined that such lower margins are in line with those of competitors in the industry."

ADM. WOODWARD PRESENTS 'E' TO CRANE COMPANY

The government's appreciation of a job well done was bestowed yesterday on 15,000 men and women who are turning out constantly larger numbers of valves and other fittings for the army and navy at the Crane company's expanded Chicago plant at 4100 South Kedzie avenue.

At a late afternoon ceremony at the change of shifts lapel buttons for efficiency in war production were given the employés and the plant was awarded the army-navy "E" emblem.

J. H. Collier, president, accepted the "E" flag to be flown over the plant from Adm. Clark Howell Woodward, U. S. N., retired. Six representative employés, including plant veterans, accepted the lapel buttons from Col. J. F. Butler, chief of the military personnel branch of the army's 6th service command. The ceremony was broadcast over a radio network of 140 stations.

TRUSTEE TO ASK MORE BE PAID ON N. SHORE ISSUES

A federal court petition asking higher interest and full payment of the matured principal of three equipment trust certificate issues of the Chicago, North Shore, and Milwaukee railroad will be filed soon by American National Bank and Trust company as trustee, officials of the bank said yesterday. They said the petition will cite the electric line's war boom in traffic as justification for the action.

The petition will cover series E 5½s, F 5½s, and G 6s in a total amount of $1,589,200. Payments on principal were halted in 1932 when the road went into receivership, but interest was paid, in full at first and later at rates as low as 2 per cent. In July, 1941, a boost in interest to the present 4 per cent rate was granted.

January Egg Close Out Is Highest for 20 Years

January egg futures rose 1.1 cents on the Chicago Mercantile exchange yesterday to close at 36.50 cents a dozen. This was the highest close out level for a January egg delivery in 20 years, but was 1.4 cents under the future's ceiling and its best level of the season.

Canadian Pulp Association Re-Elects Smith President

MONTREAL, Que., Jan. 29 (AP).—E. Howard Smith of Montreal, president of the Canadian Pulp and Paper association for the last four months since R. L. Weldon became newsprint controler, was reelected at the association's annual meeting today.

Grains Higher; Rye Climbs to Season's Peak

Rye prices advanced 1⅝ cents a bushel yesterday on the Chicago Board of Trade to new seasonal high levels as the result of general buying which developed late in the session. The close was at the top with May 84⅝ cents. Many stop loss buying orders were executed after the market went into new high ground and shorts covered on the way up.

Other grains, altho quiet, were somewhat higher. Wheat futures were up ¼ to ⅜ cent. Corn and oats gained ⅛ to ¼ cent. Soy beans advanced 1 to 1½ cents, but no sales were reported.

Cash interests were moderate buyers of wheat and corn futures. Despite unfavorable weather conditions farmers sold 125,000 bushels of cash corn for deferred shipment.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 29 (AP).—The international wheat council took steps today to set up a 100 million bushel pool of wheat for relief use in Europe, Africa, and Asia.

The council composed of representatives of Argentina, Australia, Canada, Great Britain, and the United States, authorized its executive committee to call upon member countries for their previously agreed upon contributions as soon as an international relief agency has been established. SLASH MARKETINGS

OTTAWA, Ont., Jan. 29 (AP).—Marketings of wheat in western Canada during the crop year 1943-'44, starting next Aug. 1, will be restricted to 14 bushels an authorized acre, Trade Minister James A. MacKinnon announced in the house of commons today.

The 1943-'44 wheat board payment for wheat sold under the 14 bushel quota will be the same as in 1942-'43, at 90 cents a bushel basis No. 1 northern at Fort William. Farmers who produce more than 14 bushels of wheat to the seeded acre will not be able to sell the excess to the wheat board at the guaranteed minimum price.

The 14 bushel quota plan indicated a wide reduction in the total quantity of wheat to be accepted by the wheat board in the new crop year from the 280 million bushels it may take in 1942-'43.

BAN ON GASOLINE CREDIT GOES INTO EFFECT MONDAY

Cash must be paid for all petroleum products sold starting Monday to holders of "A," "B," and "C" gasoline rationing cards, the office of war information said yesterday. The petroleum administrator has issued a directive prohibiting the granting of credit to holders of the three rationing cards. The order applies equally to the president of the bank who charges his gasoline at his garage and to the clerk who puts his gas purchase on the cuff at the corner gas station. The only exceptions are holders of "T" cards, federal, state and local governments, and commercial users of motorboats.

House Committee Approves Bill to Merge Wire Firms

Washington, D. C., Jan. 29 (AP).—The house interstate commerce committee today approved legislation to permit merger of the Western Union and Postal Telegraph companies. The senate passed a similar measure Monday, which would give preferential status to present employés for five years. The house bill would reduce this to four years.

FARM PRODUCT PRICES RISE TO 23 YEAR RECORD

Result of Demand, Higher Ceilings.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 29 (AP).—As the result of an unprecedented demand for food and some upward revision in government price ceilings, farm product prices made further gains this month to reach the highest level since 1920, the agriculture department reported today.

The index of farm prices at local markets on Jan. 15 was 182 per cent of the 1910-'14 base period and four points above the mid-December index, the department said. This was 33 points above the index of a year ago.

All groups of commodities except truck crops and fruits advanced during the month.

15 Per Cent Above Parity.

The department said the general level of agricultural prices was 15 per cent above parity. A month ago it was 14 per cent higher. Not since 1920, the department said, have farm prices been so far above parity.

The general level of prices paid by farmers, not including interest and taxes, continued to rise, with all major groups of commodities used for family maintenance and for farm production showing gains. The index of prices paid was 160 per cent of the 1910-'14 average, or two points above a month ago.

Prices of Major Commodities.

The average prices received by farmers and parity prices, respectively, on Jan. 15 by major commodities included:

Wheat $1.17 and $1.39 per bushel; corn 88 cents and $1.01 per bushel; oats 52.5 and 63 cents per bushel; rice, $1.74 and $1.28 per bushel; dry edible beans, $5.25 and $5.32 per hundred pounds; cotton, 19.74 and 19.59 cents per pound; cottonseed, $44.34 and $35.63 per ton; potatoes, $1.17 and $1.38 per bushel.

Apples $1.60 and $1.52 per bushel; hogs, $14.07 and $11.49 per hundred pounds; beef cattle, $11.78 and $8.56 per hundred pounds; veal calves, $13.60 and $10.66 per hundred pounds; lambs $13.04 and $9.29 per hundred pounds; butter fat 49.6 and 43.2 cents per pound; milk, wholesale, $3.02 and $2.68 per hundred pounds; chickens, 22.1 and 18 cents per pound; eggs, 39 and 32.3 cents per dozen; and wool, 39.5 and 28.9 cents per pound.

Meat Interests Say Control Program Threatens Industry

Both packers and middlemen in the meat industry declared yesterday that the food control program was causing difficulties that neither interest could withstand for a long period. Their problems were reported as follows:

Packers—Prices

Pressure against meat price ceilings in government inspected trade channels during the last few days has become so strong that administrators of the control program may be forced to give ground or face a serious disruption of normal operation of the industry before spring, stockyards interests said yesterday.

Costs of live animals, forced upward by the failure of supplies to reach the expected winter volume, are well above the levels warranted by the returns to packers under existing price ceilings. Only the strongest packers could survive for long under present conditions, one authority declared.

Packers Discuss "Squeeze."

Leaders in the packing industry will discuss the "squeeze" between live animal costs and meat ceilings—one of the chief topics at a meeting scheduled in Chicago for today. Most of the largest pork packers estimated their loss at almost $1 a hundred pounds, or $1.75 to $3.50 per hog when live costs rose to new 23 year January peaks yesterday.

Buyers paid an average of $15.20 for the small supply, 5 cents more than on Thursday and the highest January average since 1920. Prices were highest since early last October when $15.60 established a high since in 1920. The price was $1.75 above last month's low.

Receipts Drop 35 Per Cent.

Receipts totaled 21,500, against 33,417 a week ago, a reduction of 35 per cent. The month's total in Chicago, at 534,000 was 56,000 below a year ago. Top loads of hogs sold at $15.40, compared with $12.15 a year ago.

Not enough cattle arrived yesterday to test prices, but the week's costs to packers averaged the second highest on record for January. The scant supply of steers and yearlings was about at Thursday's level.

Lambs declined 25 cents. Top loads sold at $16.25.

Dealers—Supply

The middlemen in the meat industry are being squeezed out gradually under the government's allocation program which has cut civilian supplies approximately 35 per cent, trade spokesmen reported last night.

Independent wholesalers and jobbers not affiliated with the large packing companies have suffered such a sharp loss in trade that many will have to close in the next few months, they asserted.

An office of price administration meat expert said that the slow elimination of independent jobbers and wholesalers is inevitable.

Depend on Surplus Market.

"The independent wholesalers depended largely on a surplus market," he explained. "They bought surplus stocks left over after the packing houses had filled their needs and they bought up excess supplies from western packers. Many of the smaller wholesalers shopped around for bargains at as many as 12 or 15 packing houses.

"Now there are no surplus meat supplies. The packers can sell every ounce of meat they can get. Naturally the packers are protecting their own distribution organizations, the branch houses, the hotel and restaurant supply outlets, and subsidiary wholesale firms."

Direct Sales Expanded.

The price executive confirmed reports that the packers were expanding their direct sales to retail butchers, restaurants, hotels, and institutions. Much of this trade formerly was left to independent wholesalers.

The difficulty of the wholesale meat firms was deplored by Emmett Kelly, international vice president of the Amalgamated Meat Cutters' union [AFL] and secretary-treasurer of local 546, which represents 5,800 members in Cook county. Kelly said that the diversion of trade from the independent meat dealers was unfair and would throw several hundred union butchers out of jobs.

People and Events

William A. Born.

Three executives, formerly with the Carson Pirie Scott & Co., wholesale division, have become associated with Butler Brothers, Roy M. Henry, general manager, announced yesterday. They are William A. Born, former general sales manager at Carson's, who will become a sales specialist in the textile division; Ralph W. Tiffany, who will head the concern's ready-to-wear department, and Henry H. Skinner, who becomes a department manager of piece goods.

Beardsley Ruml, a leading proponent of the pay-as-you-go income tax plan, will discuss the program next Monday before the Chicago Association of Commerce at a meeting in the Palmer House. Ruml is chairman of the New York Reserve bank.

Chicago Daily Tribune
THE WORLDS GREATEST NEWSPAPER

Floral arrangement by one of Chicago's leading florists, Fred S. Fredericks

Presented by Dean Milk Company to Mrs. Francis E. Mongoven in acknowledgment of her voluntary testimony published in this advertisement.

MRS. FRANCIS E. MONGOVEN
2656 W. COYLE AVE.

"I wholly agree with the verdict of my jury of youngsters about Dean's milk."

That is what Mrs. Francis E. Mongoven writes. Then, going on, she says: "About a year ago I changed to Dean's. I have four children and they certainly do prefer Dean's to other milk. They compare it with the milk served them, for example, when visiting relatives and all of them stoutly assert that Dean's is richer and more enjoyable to drink."

* * *

A change to Dean's Milk will definitely be your gain. Not alone for its delicious quality which so many loyal families praise, but for the saving you make, as well. A cash saving of at least 2 cents on each quart over home-delivered milk. A saving that sure does mount up big in a family with growing children who need plenty of milk in their diet!
